Cold Drizzle Holds Down Early Voting

Humphrey, Kennedy Await Crucial Count In West Virginia

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP)—A cold, light drizzle over most of the state held down early voting today in West Virginia's crucial presidential primary contest between Sens. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass) and Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn).

Polling places that normally have lines of going-to-work voters on hand at the start easily took care of those who straggled in by twos and threes.

The weather was miserable. The temperature was in the low 40s, with chilling rain except in the extreme southern area.

Kennedy and Humphrey flew back separately to Washington. But both planned to be back by 7 p.m. to begin the long wait.

Polls open at 7:30 a.m. and will close at 8:30 p.m., eastern daylight time.

It will probably be early Wednesday morning before the winner is known.

Ballots are incredibly long here, and everyone seems to be running for something. Only five of the 55 counties have voting machines. And in most of the 2,750 polling places the counting will be done by hand.

Most of the opinion polls—and we have them by the dozens—have guessed that Humphrey would win, with Kennedy moving up fast at the finish.

Neither candidate seems impressed by these findings.

"My own feeling is that we may fool them," Kennedy said.

"I feel that it will be a very close race," Humphrey said. This fits in with an earlier Humphrey observation: "I don't trust polls."

The campaign ended as it began, with both candidates going full speed ahead.

Humphrey lectured local labor leaders for not giving him more support.

Kennedy "had hoped," he said, "I might find one union after another endorsing me."

Soviet Union Fires Stiff Complaint At U.S. On Spy Plane

U.S. Seeks Interview With Pilot

Khrushchev Warns Rockets Will Be Used In Any More Flights

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union today delivered a stiff protest to the United States about spy flights over Soviet territory. At the same time the United States requested permission to interview the pilot of the Lockheed U2 shot down near Sverdlovsk on May Day.

Meanwhile, Premier Nikita Khrushchev warned Monday night that Soviet rockets will shoot down any more spy planes that venture over Soviet soil and his government will take "appropriate counter measures."

The Soviet Premier also warned that Soviet rockets will be turned against bases in any foreign countries that allow American planes to take off on spy missions over the Soviet Union.

If intelligence missions are continued over Soviet soil, the Premier said in a speech at a Czechoslovakia Embassy reception, "We shall bring down the planes, just bring them down. If such flights are repeated, we shall take appropriate counter measures."

Khrushchev issued a general caution against use of foreign bases for spy missions. After his speech he called over Norwegian and Pakistani diplomats and told them if the United States continues using bases in their countries for operations against the Soviet Union, "We will have to aim our rockets at your bases."

Khrushchev told the Soviet Parliament last week that American flier Francis G. Powers, who was shot down and captured May 1 at Sverdlovsk while on a spying flight, took off from Peshawar, Pakistan, and was heading for Jbodo, Norway.

The United States at first said the plane was based in Turkey. Both Pakistan and Norway have denied any knowledge of Powers' flight, and Norwegian Foreign Minister Halvard Lange said he was seeking clarification from Washington. Lange told his Parliament Norwegian air fields are not open to foreign planes which violate the air space of foreign countries.

Budget Raised At Midland To $859,924

Tax Rate Increased 2 Mills To Meet New Fund Up By $90,386

The Midland Board of Education Monday evening adopted a tentative budget of $859,924 for the 1960-1961 school year, based on a millage rate of 25 mills — an increase of 2 mills over 1959-1960. A loan to be negotiated for $184,000 was also authorized.

The budget is $90,386 higher than the $769,538 final budget adopted in 1959. The last time millage was increased was three years ago when it was raised one mill.

The increased budget is due to higher school costs, not including some $32,000 spent for repairs at 4th St. School because of fire hazards and renovation of the high school heating system, James Morrison, finance chairman, said.

The budget was tentatively adopted after a motion by Morrison, who said that, according to a survey of school districts in Beaver County, which have a broader tax base, "the board has done a good job with the budget and it is one it need not be ashamed of." He said "taxpayers should accept it in the light of what other communities are doing."

The survey is a report from the county school superintendent's office, listing communities and school budgets and types of taxes.

Most of the communities listed have several taxes, including property, per capita from $5 to $15, wage from 5 to 10 mills, amusement and trailer. Midland has only the property tax. Most have raised next year's millage rate from 2 to 10 mills on property.

Aliquippa remains the same at 35 mills, Ambridge went from 25 to 28, Beaver Area 22½ to 28, Beaver Falls 28 to 31, Baden 20 to 30, Big Beaver is the same at 23, Homewood 18 to 26, New Galilee 13 to 23, Fallston 15 to 35, New Sewickley 11 to 20, Georgetown 20 to 25, Harmony 24 to 26, Patterson is the same at 19, Greene 20 to 22, Hookstown 20½ to 29, Shippingport 24 to 28 and Western Beaver 17 to 22. These are not all the districts.

The new budget will be adopted after a period of three weeks allowed by law for public inspection. An itemized list of proposed expenditures was not given last night.

John Shovlin, athletic chairman, remarked that with $2,000 short in the new budget for the athletic program, there might be a deficiency later and more money may be needed.

On a motion by Morrison, the board approved the transfer of $9,493.75 from the sinking fund, ac-

Free Parking Slated To End On 2 City Lots

Today's the last day of free parking on two city-owned lots at 3rd and Market Sts., Safety-Service Director Lee Copenhaver warned motorists.

Parking meters will go into operation Wednesday morning at 8.

Installation of the meters is scheduled to be completed today on the 2 blacktopped lots, which are on either side of Market St. immediately north of 3rd St. Each lot has spaces for 12 autos.

The meters will allow a maximum of 10 hours' parking at 5 cents an hour, Copenhaver said. They will accept 5-cent, 10-cent and 25-cent coins.

To prevent damage to the metal standards which support the meters, autos must be nosed into the parking spaces — not backed in — the director said. The metal standards, less the meter heads, have been in place for about four months. Experience showed that when an auto was backed into a parking spot, its rear projected over a wooden bumper strip sufficiently to hit and loosen the standards, the director said. The city was forced to reset nine of the standards.

Signs have been erected at each lot warning motorists that they must pull into the parking spots hood first and violators will be held responsible for damage to the standards, the director said.

Although most of the meters are in place today, police and "Meter Maids" will not begin checking for violations until Wednesday morning, Copenhaver said.

The city owns the vacant lots on all four corners of the intersection. Two were cleared and blacktopped late in 1959 to provide additional off-street parking space. Parkers have been using the lots free since mid-December.

County Shows Gain Of 7,669 In Population

Suburban Districts Account For Rise In Decade To 106,589

Columbiana County's population went over the 100,000-mark in the past decade, according to the 1960 census reports which list the county with a current population of 106,589.

The preliminary report received by the county commissioners at Lisbon today showed the county had a population increase of 7,669 over 1950's total of 98,920.

The majority of population increase was apparently in the suburban areas, since a number of cities, such as East Liverpool and Wellsville, had population declines and East Palestine had only a slight increase. Salem's population was up somewhat more, however.

Because the salary schedule for county salaries is based upon population figures, including the 100,000 level, the new figure may result in a revision for elected officials of the county.

R. Max Gard said "These figures show we are developing into suburban sections rather than agricultural, and it will require orderly planning for the rapid developed areas which are now being built."

"The trend," acording to Walter Hunston," is from town to rural districts, and it will be wise to get into zoning in the very near future."

Charges Filed In Gun Tussle

2 Still Hospitalized; Hearing's Delayed

Lt. Mike Winters filed charges of assault with a deadly weapon in Municipal Court today against Robert Salsberry, 34, of 208 W. 7th St., one of 2 men wounded in a hand-to-hand struggle over a revolver early Sunday in the lobby of the Travelers Hotel.

Salsberry's arraignment before Judge Samuel M. Chertoff must await the defendant's release from City Hospital, where he is in "good" condition today recovering from a wound inflicted by a .38-caliber bullet which entered his groin and coursed downward into his right thigh.

Also wounded in the struggle was Albert Barnes, 65, of 506 Sugar St., a night clerk at the hotel, who was shot through the left hand. His condition today was described as "fair."

Lt. Winters filed the charge about 10 this morning after conferring on the complicated case with Asst. Solicitor Richard J. Clark, who serves as prosecutor in Municipal Court. He said no charges will be filed against Barnes.

The charge against Salsberry is a felony which carries a penalty of 1-5 years imprisonment upon conviction. In Municipal Court he will be given a preliminary hearing to determine whether there is sufficient cause to bind him over to the Grand Jury.

Police said the two were wounded about 4:20 a. m. Sunday as they struggled for possession of the revolver. Salsberry had been asked to leave the room of a hotel guest, police said. When the clerk called police, a tussle broke out near the hotel desk. The clerk produced a gun in an attempt to cow Salsberry, but the former Marine grabbed the revolver and the struggle over the gun resulted in the wounding of both men.

Ike Still Plans To Carry Out Trip To Japan

Will Go Regardless Of Whether Visit To Russia Is Canceled

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower will visit Japan and Korea next month as scheduled regardless of whether he cancels plans to go to the Soviet Union, the White House said today.

"That's firm," the associate press secretary, Anne Wheaton, said in making public a preliminary schedule of the President's activities in Tokyo June 19-23.

Preparations still are going forward for the Soviet tour, she said in reply to newsmen's questions. She said representatives of the two governments are "constantly in consultation" on details.

The Tokyo schedule includes visits and state dinners with Emperor Hirohito and Empress Nagako, a round of sightseeing and a golf match with Prime Minister Kishi.

The schedule also indicates that Mrs. Eisenhower still is planning to accompany the President to Japan and Korea, as well as to the Soviet Union if that visit remains in the picture.

The White House said, for example, that Eisenhower and his wife will be hosts to the Emperor and Empress at a dinner in Tokyo June 21.

Eisenhower will arrive in Tokyo the afternoon of June 19. He will be met at Haned Airport by the Emperor and his wife, and then

Khrushchev Claims Pilot Is CIA Agent

Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev says Francis G. Powers, the American pilot downed on a flight over the Soviet Union is a CIA agent.

As it has before and probably will continue to do in the future, CIA is saying nothing about the U.S. airman. It neither confirms nor denies that it had any hand in the affair. It remains as mum as the sphinx.

There is a reason for this: For CIA to give any hint of its activities, even to deny anything, might give out clues that would harm CIA's effectiveness.

It is widely known—though not officially stated—that CIA has undercover intelligence agents around the world. In Washington, the agency directs its far-flung operations, assesses the information gathered, and reports it to President Eisenhower and other appropriate government officials.

U.S. Admits Spy Missions Inside Soviet

Claims It Was Part Of 'Surveillance' To Protect Free World

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States has acknowledged sending spy planes inside the Soviet Union occasionally as part of "extensive aerial surveillance" designed to protect the Free World from surprise attack.

Secretary of State Christian A. Herter reported the practice Monday after briefing congressional leaders on developments since the Soviet claim to have shot down a U.S. plane deep in Soviet territory May 1.

"The United States has not and does not shirk this responsibility," Herter said, leaving the implication—not discouraged by the State Department — that such flights might be continued until Soviet secrecy is relaxed.

Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev took note Monday night of an earlier State Department statement which mentioned Soviet secrecy in explaining the May 1 flight.

Khrushchev called it "a very

U.S. Demands Inspection Of Dixie Voting Records

WASHINGTON (AP) — Moving quickly under the new Civil Rights Act, Atty. Gen. William P. Rogers has asked to inspect voting records in four counties in four Southern states.

In letters to the county registration boards, Rogers said Monday: "This demand is based upon information in the possession of the attorney general tending to show that distinctions on the basis of race or color have been made with respect to registration and voting within your jurisdiction."

The Justice Department said that while thousands of Negroes live in the four counties, none is registered to vote. The counties are McCormick County, S.C., East Carroll Parish, La., Webster County, Ga., and Wilcox County, Ala.

The McCormick County attorney called Rogers a "liar" for charging there was discrimination there.

"In the first place," said Attorney J. Fred Buzhardt, "We have four Negroes registered. Three registered last week and one last fall. In the second place, no Negro, to my knowledge, has ever been refused registration if they applied. None ever applied before."

H. Henderson Bruce, chairman of the Wilcox County Board of Registrars, said the board hasn't

Disabled Jet With 109 Aboard Lands Safely

NEW YORK (AP) — The landing gear of a Trans World Airlines jet with 109 persons aboard collapsed in landing Monday, and the four-engine plane skidded 2,000 feet amid smoke and flames. No one was seriously hurt.

The 100 passengers and nine crew members scrambled through emergency exits and down escape chutes moments after the 5½-million-dollar Boeing 707 ground to a halt on its belly.

Capt. Henry Campbell of Los Angeles, pilot of the nonstop flight from Los Angeles, said he was coming in for a normal landing when the nose wheel collapsed.

'Political Feast On Our Poverty'

West Virginia Governor Raps Kennedy, Humphrey

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic Sens. John Kennedy and Hubert Humphrey had a "political feast on our poverty," Gov. Cecil Underwood of West Virginia said Monday night.

The senators, opponents in today's West Virginia presidential primary, didn't show any interest in the state until a few weeks ago, the Republican governor said.

"It wasn't until they began looking for votes that they began to bleed for our problems," Underwood declared.

Kennedy and Humphrey had deplored West Virginia's unemployment in their campaigning in that state.

They discussed it in a recent debate, carried by TV stations and the Mutual Broadcasting System.

GOP National Chairman Thruston Morton demanded equal time from all outlets which carried the debate, and Underwood's remarks with Morton were taped for broadcast on the Mutual system last night. Mutual said it would offer the program to 458 affiliates. It will be up to each station to decide whether it will carry the program.

Morton said the Democrats' debate was a "carefully planned attack" on the Eisenhower administration because Kennedy and Humphrey agreed with each other's charges against the Republicans.

2 Given Penitentiary Terms For Car Theft

Robert Garey, 25, of R. D. 1 and John J. Gillen, 26, of Cincinnati were given sentences of 1-20 years in the Ohio Penitentiary Monday afternoon by Common Pleas Judge Joel H. Sharp when they switched their pleas to guilty on indictments alleging they stole an auto from a Klondyke used car lot Feb. 9.

Both Garey and Gillen had pleaded innocent April 18 when arraigned on charges filed by the Grand Jury April 7. They were to have gone on trial tomorrow on charges they took a sedan from the Carnegie Auto Sales lot on Harvey Ave.

Budget Raised At Midland To $859,924

Tax Rate Increased 2 Mills To Meet New Fund Up By $90,386

The Midland Board of Education Monday evening adopted a tentative budget of $859,924 for the 1960-1961 school year, based on a millage rate of 25 mills — an increase of 2 mills over 1959-1960. A loan to be negotiated for $184,000 was also authorized.

The budget is $90,386 higher than the $769,538 final budget adopted in 1959. The last time millage was increased was three years ago when it was raised one mill.

The increased budget is due to higher school costs, not including some $32,000 spent for repairs at 4th St. School because of fire hazards and renovation of the high school heating system, James Morrison, finance chairman, said.

The budget was tentatively adopted after a motion by Morrison, who said that, according to a survey of school districts in Beaver County, which have a broader tax base, "the board has done a good job with the budget and it is one it need not be ashamed of." He said "taxpayers should accept it in the light of what other communities are doing."

The survey is a report from the county school superintendent's office, listing communities and school budgets and types of taxes.

Most of the communities listed have several taxes, including property, per capita from $5 to $15, wage from 5 to 10 mills, amusement and trailer. Midland has only the property tax. Most have raised next year's millage rate from 2 to 10 mills on property.

Aliquippa remains the same at 35 mills, Ambridge went from 25 to 28, Beaver Area 22½ to 28, Beaver Falls 28 to 31, Baden 20 to 30, Big Beaver is the same at 23, Homewood 18 to 26, New Galilee 13 to 23, Fallston 15 to 35, New Sewickley 11 to 20, Georgetown 20 to 25, Harmony 24 to 26, Patterson is the same at 19, Greene 20 to 22, Hookstown 20½ to 29, Shippingport 24 to 28 and Western Beaver 17 to 22. These are not all the districts.

The new budget will be adopted after a period of three weeks allowed by law for public inspection. An itemized list of proposed expenditures was not given last night.

Free Parking Slated To End On 2 City Lots

Today's the last day of free parking on two city-owned lots at 3rd and Market Sts., Safety-Service Director Lee Copenhaver warned motorists.

Parking meters will go into operation Wednesday morning at 8.

Installation of the meters is scheduled to be completed today on the 2 blacktopped lots, which are on either side of Market St. immediately north of 3rd St. Each lot has spaces for 12 autos.

The meters will allow a maximum of 10 hours' parking at 5 cents an hour, Copenhaver said. They will accept 5-cent, 10-cent and 25-cent coins.

To prevent damage to the metal standards which support the meters, autos must be nosed into the parking spaces — not backed in — the director said. The metal standards, less the meter heads, have been in place for about four months. Experience showed that when an auto was backed into a parking spot, its rear projected over a wooden bumper strip sufficiently to hit and loosen the standards, the director said. The city was forced to reset nine of the standards.

Signs have been erected at each lot warning motorists that they must pull into the parking spots hood first and violators will be held responsible for damage to the standards, the director said.

Although most of the meters are in place today, police and "Meter Maids" will not begin checking for violations until Wednesday morning, Copenhaver said.

The city owns the vacant lots on all four corners of the intersection. Two were cleared and blacktopped late in 1959 to provide additional off-street parking space. Parkers have been using the lots free since mid-December.

County Shows Gain Of 7,669 In Population

Suburban Districts Account For Rise In Decade To 106,589

Columbiana County's population went over the 100,000-mark in the past decade, according to the 1960 census reports which list the county with a current population of 106,589.

The preliminary report received by the county commissioners at Lisbon today showed the county had a population increase of 7,669 over 1950's total of 98,920.

The majority of population increase was apparently in the suburban areas, since a number of cities, such as East Liverpool and Wellsville, had population declines and East Palestine had only a slight increase. Salem's population was up somewhat more, however.

Charges Filed In Gun Tussle

2 Still Hospitalized; Hearing's Delayed

Lt. Mike Winters filed charges of assault with a deadly weapon in Municipal Court today against Robert Salsberry, 34, of 208 W. 7th St., one of 2 men wounded in a hand-to-hand struggle over a revolver early Sunday in the lobby of the Travelers Hotel.

Salsberry's arraignment before Judge Samuel M. Chertoff must await the defendant's release from City Hospital, where he is in "good" condition today recovering from a wound inflicted by a .38-caliber bullet which entered his groin and coursed downward into his right thigh.

Also wounded in the struggle was Albert Barnes, 65, of 506 Sugar St., a night clerk at the hotel, who was shot through the left hand. His condition today was described as "fair."

Lt. Winters filed the charge about 10 this morning after conferring on the complicated case with Asst. Solicitor Richard J. Clark, who serves as prosecutor in Municipal Court. He said no charges will be filed against Barnes.

The charge against Salsberry is a felony which carries a penalty of 1-5 years imprisonment upon conviction. In Municipal Court he will be given a preliminary hearing to determine whether there is sufficient cause to bind him over to the Grand Jury.

Police said the two were wounded about 4:20 a. m. Sunday as they struggled for possession of the revolver. Salsberry had been asked to leave the room of a hotel guest, police said. When the clerk called police, a tussle broke out near the hotel desk. The clerk produced a gun in an attempt to cow Salsberry, but the former Marine grabbed the revolver and the struggle over the gun resulted in the wounding of both men.

Khrushchev Claims Pilot Is CIA Agent

Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev says Francis G. Powers, the American pilot downed on a flight over the Soviet Union is a CIA agent.

As it has before and probably will continue to do in the future, CIA is saying nothing about the U.S. airman. It neither confirms nor denies that it had any hand in the affair. It remains as mum as the sphinx.

There is a reason for this: For CIA to give any hint of its activities, even to deny anything, might give out clues that would harm CIA's effectiveness.

It is widely known—though not officially stated—that CIA has undercover intelligence agents around the world. In Washington, the agency directs its far-flung operations, assesses the information gathered, and reports it to President Eisenhower and other appropriate government officials.

U.S. Admits Spy Missions Inside Soviet

Claims It Was Part Of 'Surveillance' To Protect Free World

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States has acknowledged sending spy planes inside the Soviet Union occasionally as part of "extensive aerial surveillance" designed to protect the Free World from surprise attack.

Secretary of State Christian A. Herter reported the practice Monday after briefing congressional leaders on developments since the Soviet claim to have shot down a U.S. plane deep in Soviet territory May 1.

"The United States has not and does not shirk this responsibility," Herter said, leaving the implication—not discouraged by the State Department — that such flights might be continued until Soviet secrecy is relaxed.

Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev took note Monday night of an earlier State Department statement which mentioned Soviet secrecy in explaining the May 1 flight.

Khrushchev called it "a very

2 Given Penitentiary Terms For Car Theft

Robert Garey, 25, of R. D. 1 and John J. Gillen, 26, of Cincinnati were given sentences of 1-20 years in the Ohio Penitentiary Monday afternoon by Common Pleas Judge Joel H. Sharp when they switched their pleas to guilty on indictments alleging they stole an auto from a Klondyke used car lot Feb. 9.

Both Garey and Gillen had pleaded innocent April 18 when arraigned on charges filed by the Grand Jury April 7. They were to have gone on trial tomorrow on charges they took a sedan from the Carnegie Auto Sales lot on Harvey Ave.

Triton Circles World Without Surfacing

WASHINGTON — The U. S. atomic-powered submarine Triton has gone around the world without surfacing.

The huge, 7,750-ton submersible, designed as a radar warning ship, was headed for her home port of New London, Conn., today after completing a historic voyage.

Under New Civil Rights Act

WASHINGTON (AP) — Moving quickly under the new Civil Rights Act, Atty. Gen. William P. Rogers has asked to inspect voting records in four counties in four Southern states.

In letters to the county registration boards, Rogers said Monday: "This demand is based upon information in the possession of the attorney general tending to show that distinctions on the basis of race or color have been made with respect to registration and voting within your jurisdiction."

The Justice Department said that while thousands of Negroes live in the four counties, none is registered to vote. The counties are McCormick County, S.C., East Carroll Parish, La., Webster County, Ga., and Wilcox County, Ala.

The McCormick County attorney called Rogers a "liar" for charging there was discrimination there.

"In the first place," said Attorney J. Fred Buzhardt, "We have four Negroes registered. Three registered last week and one last fall. In the second place, no Negro, to my knowledge, has ever been refused registration if they applied. None ever applied before."

H. Henderson Bruce, chairman of the Wilcox County Board of Registrars, said the board hasn't

Disabled Jet With 109 Aboard Lands Safely

NEW YORK (AP) — The landing gear of a Trans World Airlines jet with 109 persons aboard collapsed in landing Monday, and the four-engine plane skidded 2,000 feet amid smoke and flames. No one was seriously hurt.

The 100 passengers and nine crew members scrambled through emergency exits and down escape chutes moments after the 5½-million-dollar Boeing 707 ground to a halt on its belly.

Capt. Henry Campbell of Los Angeles, pilot of the nonstop flight from Los Angeles, said he was coming in for a normal landing when the nose wheel collapsed.

'Political Feast On Our Poverty'

West Virginia Governor Raps Kennedy, Humphrey

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic Sens. John Kennedy and Hubert Humphrey had a "political feast on our poverty," Gov. Cecil Underwood of West Virginia said Monday night.

The senators, opponents in today's West Virginia presidential primary, didn't show any interest in the state until a few weeks ago, the Republican governor said.

"It wasn't until they began looking for votes that they began to bleed for our problems," Underwood declared.

Kennedy and Humphrey had deplored West Virginia's unemployment in their campaigning in that state.

They discussed it in a recent debate, carried by TV stations and the Mutual Broadcasting System.

GOP National Chairman Thruston Morton demanded equal time from all outlets which carried the debate, and Underwood's remarks with Morton were taped for broadcast on the Mutual system last night. Mutual said it would offer the program to 458 affiliates. It will be up to each station to decide whether it will carry the program.

Morton said the Democrats' debate was a "carefully planned attack" on the Eisenhower administration because Kennedy and Humphrey agreed with each other's charges against the Republicans.

Background To The Summit

'K' Feels He Can't Lose And The West Can't Win

Next Monday in Paris, the presidents of the United States and France and the prime minister of Britain and the Soviet Union sit down for talks at the summit. In this first of a series of four articles, AP news analyst William L. Ryan reports on the confident stance of the Communist world.

By WILLIAM L. Ryan
Associated Press News Analyst

Approaching the summit, Nikita Khrushchev seems brimful of confidence that he cannot lose—and the West cannot win.

The Communist approach to the four-power Paris meeting next week indicates a belief that Khrushchev bullied a weak and irresolute Western alliance into a meeting it did not want, and thus will be calling the shots.

Moscow has reason for confidence. Even deadlock at the summit could be hailed as a success for Soviet propaganda. Moscow seems studiously preparing for failure of Khrushchev's meeting with President Eisenhower, President Charles de Gaulle and Prime Minister Harold Macmillan to achieve any noteworthy contribution to peace.

There is little hope for agreement on the questions of West Berlin and divided Germany. Moscow has rejected the West's idea of free elections for all Berlin. Unquestionably Moscow will reject free elections as a prerequisite for peace treaties with East and West Germany.

On disarmament, Khrushchev's proposal for total, universal disarming is less a proposal than a gambit. Every Western proposal is rejected out of hand with the retort: the West wants controlled armament, not disarmament.

Thus, the four leaders seem to be meeting not for the sake of agreeing, but for the sake of meeting. Khrushchev's long propaganda drive for this meeting succeeded, apparently, because the West feared the effect on public opinion of rejection of a challenge to talk.

All this tends to turn the spotlight where it belongs: on the contest for the underdeveloped, churning world of Asia, Africa and Latin America.

Presummit Communist activity indicates Khrushchev's toying with the Berlin question, his spectacular world disarmament proposal, his eagerness to center world attention on Europe, all provide cover for the main immediate aim of Soviet policy: expansion of Red authority in the backward world.

There is some indication that a face-saving statement will come from the summit hinting at progress on nuclear test bans.

But a survey of the climate in advance of the summit shows Moscow still vigorously on the offensive, the West on the defensive, and little chance of real agreement, except, perhaps, on the idea that there should be more summit meetings.

Prices Eased On Some Fruit

Bananas and oranges are good buys this week, according to Ed Watkins, market information agent with the Agricultural Extension Service.

Bananas will continue to be featured as a price special. Quality as a general rule is excellent. Valencia oranges from Florida are the most economical orange with California Valencias only slightly higher. This situation will change in the next few weeks, as less and less Florida fruit will be available.

Lemon prices are probably as favorable at this time as they will be during the warm weather season. Since lemons keep well in the refrigerator, perhaps now is the time to stock up.

Locally-grown rhubarb now is just starting to market. The supply, along with shipped-in material, will keep this fruit very much in season for the rest of the month. Local strawberries will not be available until about the first of June. Those on the market now are from California and Louisiana, with a few from Arkansas and Tennessee.

Celery and onions still are inexpensive and most salad greens are abundant in supply. Head lettuce is a bit more economical than last month, but quality still varies widely. The satisfactory lettuce heads are quite heavy for their size and are firm and compact. Asparagus season is in full swing, with the New Jersey area now taking over the market from California fields.

Beef prices will edge downward only slightly, while pork prices will continue to gain until midsummer. There are fewer hogs to market this time of year, limiting supply and making for higher prices.

Dairy products, milk, cottage cheese and ice cream are in more abundant supply this time of year.

On Spree Since Friday

2 Runaway Youths Admit Arson, Theft, Vandalism

CINCINNATI (AP)—County police tracked down two rain-soaked boys, age 11 and 12, they said admitted setting fire to a horse barn at River Downs race track Monday night.

But that's not all.

County Police Cpl. Art Schearer said the pair, under questioning, unfolded this story of their activities since Friday:

Ran away from home, went to Newport, Ky., stole a bicycle and four cases of soft drink, then threw the empty bottles at passing boats from the suspension bridge over the Ohio River.

Looted 10 to 12 automobiles parked on Third Street, Cincinnati, swiped a woman's purse, emptied it of $2.51 and tossed it into a sewer.

Were nabbed by police, reprimanded by juvenile authorities and sent home on probation.

Ran away from home again, looted 19 cars in a parking lot, sold a stolen flashlight for 50 cents and hopped a bus for suburban Mount Washington.

Went to River Downs race track, tried to get jobs, attempted to ride horses, stole a bale of hay, spread it around the barn that burned and ignited it with burning straw.

Fled across a street to a restaurant and tried to play pool. Forbidden this, they set fire to a towel in the washroom.

Broke into a boat at an Ohio River harbor, turned the cabin upside down in a search for clothing and dumped the outboard motor into a sludge hole.

Schearer and Cincinnati police, checking the boys' accounts, said police reports back up some of the vandalism claimed.

Police said both boys have been held at the city youth center several times before for running away and for theft.

A dozen horses in nearby barns were evacuated, but firefighters contained the blaze in the structure where it started. The barn contained only straw.

Track owner Leon Slavin said damage costs might reach $50,000.

Judge L. A. Grayson last week gave Patricia Lee Copenhaver a choice—face sentencing for aggravated assault or get a marriage license with Cecil E. Barry, 49.

When she went before Grayson Monday it was to be married, not sentenced. Barry, who reported his stab wound wasn't serious, said he had forgiven Patricia.

NEW PHILADELPHIA, Ohio (AP)—Darrell Stoffer, 44, found guilty of first-degree manslaughter in the June 29, 1959, death of his wife, June, was sentenced Monday to 1-20 years in Ohio Penitentiary. Judge Frank Cope heard the case without a jury.

Results Stand In Primaries' Official Tally

The Columbiana County Election Board completed work late Monday night on the official canvass of returns from the May 3 primaries, showing no material change in the unofficial count completed a few hours after the polls closed.

In the only really close race on the county end of either ticket, the official count widened the margin by which John E. Graham of Aten Ave., Wellsville, won the Democratic nomination for county recorder over Larry Finlay, East Liverpool market operator and potter.

The official count gave Graham a margin of 175, compared to the 74-vote edge credited to him in the unofficial tabulation. The official count shows 2,156 for the Wellsville man against 1,981 for Finlay. In the unofficial tabulation, Graham was given 2,071 and Finlay was credited with 1,997.

The official tabulation also made a slight cut in the county's total vote. The drop was 65, as the final count shows a turnout of 15,774—including 9,271 Republicans and 6,503 Democrats. The unofficial vote total was 15,839, with 9,306 Republicans and 6,553 Democrats.

The official count shows Sheriff Russell J. VanFossan, unopposed for renomination, led the Republican ticket with 7,841 votes. The Democratic ticket was led by Rep. Wayne L. Hays, unopposed for renomination to Congress, who received 5,739 votes in the county.

The final tabulation confirmed approval of 8 of 10 special questions and issues, including 3 East Liverpool school levies.

Frank R. O'Hanlon, clerk of the board, said the official count was finished at 9:45 last night. It was certified immediately to Secretary of State Ted W. Brown at Columbus to go into Ohio's permanent records.

Jailed White Women Threaten Hunger Strike

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — Twenty-one white women, held in jail under emergency regulations, today threatened to go on a hunger strike unless the government releases them before Friday or files formal charges against them.

The women are among more than 1,700 persons of all races arrested since racial unrest took a violent turn in South Africa last month. Under the state of emergency invoked by the government, those arrested can be held indefinitely without being charged or arraigned.

If Humphrey has fretted about money constantly, Kennedy has worried about religion. He's a Catholic, running in a state predominantly Protestant.

Balloting In Hancock Steady Despite Rain

Despite a heavy rain, voters in Hancock County were appearing at the polls steadily this morning and predictions may come true of a 50 per cent turnout of the 21,803 registered for the primary.

Polls opened this morning at 7:30 and will remain open until 8:30 tonight in the county's 36 precincts.

A forenoon check of polling spots throughout the county indicated a fairly heavy vote in Grant District, which embraces Chester and Newell. Officials at polls in Butler District in Weirton reported a "light" turnout this morning.

Earlier, county officials had forecast a 50 per cent turnout—possibly 11,000—for today's primary because of the unusually high interest for the nominations to top offices.

The highly-publicized campaigns of presidential hopefuls Sens. John F. Kennedy (D. Mass.) and Hubert Humphrey (D.-Minn.) also was expected to lure a heavy vote in the state and especially in the Northern Panhandle.

At Precinct 5 in the Grandview School in Lawrenceville, some 175 had voted this morning. Precinct 7 at the Jefferson School in Newell listed over 105. Some 93 had cast ballots at 11 a. m. at Precinct 2, Chester Central School. A heavy vote also was reported this morning at Precinct 14 in Clay District, where 121 cast ballots.

The primary in Hancock is highlighted by party races for nominations for sheriff, prosecuting attorney and assessor.

Clarkson Groups' Dinner Draws 75

About 75 attended the annual mother-daughter banquet sponsored by the Women's Association of the Clarkson United Presbyterian Church Friday night at the Fellowship Hall.

Mrs. Estella Vaughn received an award as the oldest mother present, and Mrs. Betty Smith received one for the mother with the most daughters present.

Mrs. Earl Gibson, conducted the worship service. Miss Penny Lipp gave a recitation.

Six members presented a pantomime and the Lionette Club of Lisbon were featured in a comedy routine.

Mrs. Robert Welce led group singing.

Members of the association participated in the lay-women's service Sunday morning at the church. Mrs. Vera Rickart of Youngstown was the speaker.

Wells High Society To Present New Plaque

The National Honor Society of Wells High School in Newell has voted to purchase a new plaque to be presented to an outstanding senior on Class Day in memory of the late Harold D. Gregory, principal for many years.

The new plaque will replace the Balfour Award which is presented for scholarship, loyalty and achievement and is considered the highest honor a senior could receive at the school.

A name will be added to the new plaque each year, according to Miss Anna Mae Monroe, NHS reporter.

Junior Display Planned By Midland Coin Club

Plans for an exhibit of coin collections by junior members was discussed at the meeting of the Midland Coin Club Monday night in the Borough Building.

The coin display will be featured at the meeting June 13, the last until fall.

The possibility of displaying coin collections at a business place also was considered.

The method of cleaning coins was discussed. About 25, including 10 senior members, attended.

River Reaches 20.9, Remains Stationary

Fed by weekend rains, the Ohio River reached 20.9 feet this morning then remained stationary and attendants at Dam 8 at Newell said that would be the crest. Flood state is 32 feet.

But the raw weather isn't over as there will be intermittent rain through tonight and Wednesday with cool temperatures.

The mercury fell to 43 this morning and will range between 34 and 39 tonight. Over 2 inches of rain was recorded through Monday but the occasional drizzle last night and this morning added 0.32 inch. The wet spell started Saturday.

Lisbon Council Sets Study On New Revenue

LISBON — A study on means of obtaining additional operating funds — to replace revenue formerly obtained from State Highway Patrol cases in the mayor's court — was authorized by Council Monday night.

The finance committee—Councilmen Robert Kelm, Raymond Dixon and Robert Dornon—is scheduled to meet to discuss new revenue sources—possibly a levy.

It was suggested that Council propose a levy of one, two or three mills. A one-mill levy would provide some $6,192 annually. It was estimated the State Highway Patrol cases brought the village around $22,000 a year. Patrol cases now are handled in the County Courts.

Council authorized the purchase of 2 pumper plugs for fire hydrants at a cost of $200 each.

Paul Kuhns, chairman of the Board of Public Affairs, displayed plans for the new offices of the board for which bids will be sought in the near future.

Cost of construction will be between $2,500 and $3,000 and will be near the present office the board shares with the firemen. Council approved first reading of a measure for advertising for bids. Money will be provided from the water and sewage funds.

Council also approved first reading of an ordinance raising the salary of Clerk Edgar Kirk, from $270 to $310 a month. Kirk also receives $50 a month from the Cemetery Board.

Council authorized the operation of parking meters on Wednesday afternoons, ending free parking then because most of the village stores are closed.

Cortney Pennell, Lisbon manager of the Ohio Fuel & Gas Co., again submitted a proposal to increase gas rates 7.8 per cent.

Council was unable to meet with Pennell last week as scheduled and agreed to confer with him Wednesday night to review some criticism from gas consumers. No action will be taken Wednesday on the rate boost, however.

Assistant Fire Chief W. A. Peters requested use of the fire truck for parades within a radius of 50 miles. Council authorized such a practice on condition 75 per cent of the firemen remain available in the village and the Civil Defense pumper is placed on standby alert.

Lower, member of the fire committee, requested equipment for new firemen on the force. He said he will make an effort to obtain equipment now being held by former firemen.

Mayor Dean Stockman expressed appreciation to the Lions Club for cleaning the village square Thursday, to Councilman Fred Steele for the flag stand donated by the Chester Hoist Co. and for the flag donated by the Lisbon Democratic Club.

The next meeting will be May 23.

Virginia Man Unhurt When Auto Overturns

A Virginia driver escaped injury when his small auto overturned on Route 30 about 7 miles south of Lisbon about 12:30 a. m. today.

Charles Goodman, 21, of Alexandria, Va., lost control of his 1960 French auto which left the road and rolled over, the State Highway Patrol at Lisbon reported. The car was damaged, officers said.

Homer Stryffeler, 33, of East Rochester R. D. 1 was cited after his car struck an approaching auto on Route 172 near New Alexander Monday afternoon.

Officers said he tried to slow for traffic ahead, lost control, went left of center and struck an approaching car operated by Juanita Boron, 47, of Homeworth R. D. 1. He was charged with reckless operation.

he said, but "certain quarters in the United States stage such a provocation."

"Our strength is being tested," he said. "Therefore let us not draw conclusions aggravating relations between countries, such conclusions as would hamper us in the future, even, I should like to say, in building good relations with the U.S.A.

"We want to live, not only in peace, but also in friendship with the American people. The American people want no war, I am sure of this."

(Khrushchev meanwhile dispatched a note to French President Charles de Gaulle which strengthened the conviction that the Soviet Premier is still looking forward to the summit meeting despite the furor over the U.S. plane. In the note, Khrushchev expressed hope that the friendly relations established on his recent visit to France would continue at the conference opening in Paris Monday.)

(West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer in a speech in Duesseldorf Monday night said that Soviet planes have made air reconnaissance missions at great heights over the United States. He said the late Secretary of State John Foster Dulles told him the Soviets had excellent aerial photos of America and that it was difficult for the United States to achieve the same results over the Soviet Union.

Court Order 'Frees' County Home Couple

Barnard Bartlett, 57, and his wife, Baryl, 56, formerly of East Liverpool, gained their release from the County Home Monday afternoon when Common Pleas Court Judge Raymond Buzzard granted a writ in a habeas corpus action filed by a friend who expects to employ them.

Albert Andrew Raabe filed the action in their behalf after the couple said they were told that they could not leave the County Home unless they could obtain a sponsor who would take care of their welfare and funeral expenses in case of death.

Mr. and Mrs. Bartlett testified they entered the County Home voluntarily over six years ago because he was out of work. They said they now wished to leave the home as they intended to work for Raabe, who agreed to keep them and pay them $50 a month.

Raabe testified to this but refused to sign the agreement in their behalf as to funeral expenses. He said he couldn't be sure how long they would stay with him but he still would be liable for their welfare and burial.

Judge Buzzard said in ordering the release of the Bartletts that if such a rule is necessary at the County Home this could keep many persons from being released if they had to get someone to sign such an agreement and it could deprive the individual of his or her freedom and liberty.

"It is almost the same as a hospital that admits a person who is ill and when he regains his health again will say to him he can not be released because he "can't pay his bill'."

Judge Buzzard didn't rule on the legality of the form required by the superintendents of the home since 1936 but said he would "hate to sign such an agreement" to get a person released from the home, even if they had been committed by a city, village or township.

Raabe operates a chicken farm and also has Al's Lake where he raises fish in ponds on the Fairfield Township line.

Beaver Board Plans Hiring Of Librarian

Employing a fulltime librarian for the Beaver Local High School was authorized by the Board of Education at a meeting Monday night.

The board agreed to offer a contract to Lloyd Babb, former East Liverpool resident now teaching library science at Defiance. Babb, 49, would be placed in charge of the library and would also teach speech, according to George VanHorne, executive head.

Use of a fulltime librarian has been recommended by the State Education Department as part of an expanded library program. VanHorne said plans call for the library to be opened some evenings and every other Saturday for use by students in the large school district.

In other action, the board hired three new teachers and accepted the resignation of five instructors at the high school.

Employed were Miss JoAnn Bradfield of Calcutta to teach high school English, John R. Hardy to teach at the high school or public school and his wife, Mrs. Audrey Hardy, who formerly taught in Beaver Local, to head the high school commercial department.

The board also approved closing of the Oak Grove School at the end of the present term. The closing of the frame school, over 80 years old, was ordered 2 years ago by the state department in a move to terminate 2-teacher school units in the state.

The closing was postponed last year because the present building program was not complete at Calcutta and Rogers schools where the some 55 pupils will be transferred next September.

Bids were received from 4 firms for two 66-passenger buses sought by the board, and the bids are to be referred to the State Education Department for approval.

Lewis Chevrolet of Lisbon asked $6,642, Mike Turk, Inc., of East Liverpool $6,850, and Midway Motors of Route 7 and Wimmer Brothers of East Liverpool, $7,150.

Plans were made for graduation of 109 seniors at commencement June 3 and baccaulaureate May 29. Each senior will be given seven tickets for proper sharing of seating facilities, VanHorne said. Last year, with only 70 seniors graduating, students were permitted 10 tickets.

The method of cleaning coins was discussed. About 25, including 10 senior members, attended.

River Reaches 20.9, Remains Stationary

Fed by weekend rains, the Ohio River reached 20.9 feet this morning then remained stationary and attendants at Dam 8 at Newell said that would be the crest. Flood state is 32 feet.

But the raw weather isn't over as there will be intermittent rain through tonight and Wednesday with cool temperatures.

The mercury fell to 43 this morning and will range between 34 and 39 tonight. Over 2 inches of rain was recorded through Monday but the occasional drizzle last night and this morning added 0.32 inch. The wet spell started Saturday.

Lisbon Council Sets Study On New Revenue

LISBON — A study on means of obtaining additional operating funds — to replace revenue formerly obtained from State Highway Patrol cases in the mayor's court — was authorized by Council Monday night.

The finance committee—Councilmen Robert Kelm, Raymond Dixon and Robert Dornon—is scheduled to meet to discuss new revenue sources—possibly a levy.

It was suggested that Council propose a levy of one, two or three mills. A one-mill levy would provide some $6,192 annually. It was estimated the State Highway Patrol cases brought the village around $22,000 a year. Patrol cases now are handled in the County Courts.

Council authorized the purchase of 2 pumper plugs for fire hydrants at a cost of $200 each.

Paul Kuhns, chairman of the Board of Public Affairs, displayed plans for the new offices of the board for which bids will be sought in the near future.

Cost of construction will be between $2,500 and $3,000 and will be near the present office the board shares with the firemen. Council approved first reading of a measure for advertising for bids. Money will be provided from the water and sewage funds.

Council also approved first reading of an ordinance raising the salary of Clerk Edgar Kirk, from $270 to $310 a month. Kirk also receives $50 a month from the Cemetery Board.

Council authorized the operation of parking meters on Wednesday afternoons, ending free parking then because most of the village stores are closed.

Cortney Pennell, Lisbon manager of the Ohio Fuel & Gas Co., again submitted a proposal to increase gas rates 7.8 per cent.

Council was unable to meet with Pennell last week as scheduled and agreed to confer with him Wednesday night to review some criticism from gas consumers. No action will be taken Wednesday on the rate boost, however.

Assistant Fire Chief W. A. Peters requested use of the fire truck for parades within a radius of 50 miles. Council authorized such a practice on condition 75 per cent of the firemen remain available in the village and the Civil Defense pumper is placed on standby alert.

Lower, member of the fire committee, requested equipment for new firemen on the force. He said he will make an effort to obtain equipment now being held by former firemen.

Mayor Dean Stockman expressed appreciation to the Lions Club for cleaning the village square Thursday, to Councilman Fred Steele for the flag stand donated by the Chester Hoist Co. and for the flag donated by the Lisbon Democratic Club.

The next meeting will be May 23.

Virginia Man Unhurt When Auto Overturns

A Virginia driver escaped injury when his small auto overturned on Route 30 about 7 miles south of Lisbon about 12:30 a. m. today.

Charles Goodman, 21, of Alexandria, Va., lost control of his 1960 French auto which left the road and rolled over, the State Highway Patrol at Lisbon reported. The car was damaged, officers said.

Homer Stryffeler, 33, of East Rochester R. D. 1 was cited after his car struck an approaching auto on Route 172 near New Alexander Monday afternoon.

Officers said he tried to slow for traffic ahead, lost control, went left of center and struck an approaching car operated by Juanita Boron, 47, of Homeworth R. D. 1. He was charged with reckless operation.

To Invite Eisenhower

SEOUL, Korea (AP) — The South Korean National Assembly today agreed to invite President Eisenhower to address it during his June 22 visit to Korea.

he said, but "certain quarters in the United States stage such a provocation."

"Our strength is being tested," he said. "Therefore let us not draw conclusions aggravating relations between countries, such conclusions as would hamper us in the future, even, I should like to say, in building good relations with the U.S.A.

"We want to live, not only in peace, but also in friendship with the American people. The American people want no war, I am sure of this."

(Khrushchev meanwhile dispatched a note to French President Charles de Gaulle which strengthened the conviction that the Soviet Premier is still looking forward to the summit meeting despite the furor over the U.S. plane. In the note, Khrushchev expressed hope that the friendly relations established on his recent visit to France would continue at the conference opening in Paris Monday.)

(West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer in a speech in Duesseldorf Monday night said that Soviet planes have made air reconnaissance missions at great heights over the United States. He said the late Secretary of State John Foster Dulles told him the Soviets had excellent aerial photos of America and that it was difficult for the United States to achieve the same results over the Soviet Union.

Court Order 'Frees' County Home Couple

Barnard Bartlett, 57, and his wife, Baryl, 56, formerly of East Liverpool, gained their release from the County Home Monday afternoon when Common Pleas Court Judge Raymond Buzzard granted a writ in a habeas corpus action filed by a friend who expects to employ them.

Albert Andrew Raabe filed the action in their behalf after the couple said they were told that they could not leave the County Home unless they could obtain a sponsor who would take care of their welfare and funeral expenses in case of death.

Mr. and Mrs. Bartlett testified they entered the County Home voluntarily over six years ago because he was out of work. They said they now wished to leave the home as they intended to work for Raabe, who agreed to keep them and pay them $50 a month.

Raabe testified to this but refused to sign the agreement in their behalf as to funeral expenses. He said he couldn't be sure how long they would stay with him but he still would be liable for their welfare and burial.

Judge Buzzard said in ordering the release of the Bartletts that if such a rule is necessary at the County Home this could keep many persons from being released if they had to get someone to sign such an agreement and it could deprive the individual of his or her freedom and liberty.

"It is almost the same as a hospital that admits a person who is ill and when he regains his health again will say to him he can not be released because he "can't pay his bill'."

Judge Buzzard didn't rule on the legality of the form required by the superintendents of the home since 1936 but said he would "hate to sign such an agreement" to get a person released from the home, even if they had been committed by a city, village or township.

Raabe operates a chicken farm and also has Al's Lake where he raises fish in ponds on the Fairfield Township line.

Beaver Board Plans Hiring Of Librarian

Employing a fulltime librarian for the Beaver Local High School was authorized by the Board of Education at a meeting Monday night.

The board agreed to offer a contract to Lloyd Babb, former East Liverpool resident now teaching library science at Defiance. Babb, 49, would be placed in charge of the library and would also teach speech, according to George VanHorne, executive head.

Use of a fulltime librarian has been recommended by the State Education Department as part of an expanded library program. VanHorne said plans call for the library to be opened some evenings and every other Saturday for use by students in the large school district.

In other action, the board hired three new teachers and accepted the resignation of five instructors at the high school.

Employed were Miss JoAnn Bradfield of Calcutta to teach high school English, John R. Hardy to teach at the high school or public school and his wife, Mrs. Audrey Hardy, who formerly taught in Beaver Local, to head the high school commercial department.

The board also approved closing of the Oak Grove School at the end of the present term. The closing of the frame school, over 80 years old, was ordered 2 years ago by the state department in a move to terminate 2-teacher school units in the state.

The closing was postponed last year because the present building program was not complete at Calcutta and Rogers schools where the some 55 pupils will be transferred next September.

Bids were received from 4 firms for two 66-passenger buses sought by the board, and the bids are to be referred to the State Education Department for approval.

Lewis Chevrolet of Lisbon asked $6,642, Mike Turk, Inc., of East Liverpool $6,850, and Midway Motors of Route 7 and Wimmer Brothers of East Liverpool, $7,150.

Plans were made for graduation of 109 seniors at commencement June 3 and baccaulaureate May 29. Each senior will be given seven tickets for proper sharing of seating facilities, VanHorne said. Last year, with only 70 seniors graduating, students were permitted 10 tickets.

Fighting Fire With Fire

The worst aspect of the "spy plane" incident was the timing.

Of all the times an American picture-taking jet might have got caught red-handed over Russian territory, it happened on the eve of the Paris summit conference to promote world peace.

But it is encouraging to note that President Eisenhower and his diplomatic advisers are exploring ways of turning a colossal blunder into a conference-table advantage.

For more than a week, Nikita Khrushchev has been beating the drums of the cold war once again in the long Russian history of alternately breathing hatred and sweetness whenever the occasion seemed to demand.

It is obvious that Khrushchev has come to the conclusion that the West does not intend to back down on Berlin, or anything else of importance, at the summit meeting. Thus he has been haranguing his citizens with new blasts at the West in general and the United States in particular in the traditional Red custom of throwing up propaganda smoke screens before a face-to-face encounter.

If Khrushchev can't gain some advantage, there is no use having a conference, as far as he is concerned.

THE FACT that the United States had aerial observation over Russia should be no surprise to Americans. Ever since World War II, this nation has operated the highly efficient Central Intelligence Agency under the direction of Allen Dulles. It has reported publicly on Soviet nuclear explosions and privately on many other bits of military and economic information. Americans would be entitled to complain if this nation did NOT have any information-gathering sources.

The Russians themselves have the broadest espionage network of any of the modern nations. Their submarines and surface ships have been sighted many times off American coasts. Their individuals have little difficulty getting into this country and even into critical industries, as evidenced by the loss of some of our atomic secrets and other information through such convicted spies as the Rosenbergs and Red Col. Rudolph Abel.

Khrushchev is the last person in the world entitled to complain that another nation is trying to take a peek at what his country is doing. He may know a great deal more about us than we know about Russia. If he doesn't, it is not because he has not tried with every trick in the book.

The great mistakes by this country lay in creating an opportunity to be caught at this particular moment and then trying initially to alibi our way out with false information. This gave Khrushchev a greater platform in his unrelenting propaganda campaign to take everything and give nothing at across-the-table meetings.

BUT PRESIDENT EISENHOWER now shows signs of turning the Khrushchev attack into a boomerang. Caught off-guard by the shooting down of the plane, we may very well have caught the Russian boss off-guard by admitting that what he says is true.

For this admission gives the President a new platform for repeating his frequent charge that the Reds are responsible for world tensions because their excessive secrecy breeds mistrust.

At a summit conference to be devoted primarily to disarmament, Mr. Eisenhower will be in a better position to show up the hollowness of Premier Khrushchev's talk. The President can plug for his own "open skies" proposal more aggressively, instead of leaving the floor open to Khrushchev all the time.

If this is to be the Eisenhower strategy, it is the kind of propaganda move this nation has needed to meet the verbal trickery of the Reds: a bold daring action to turn an apparent setback into an advantage.

It is fighting fire with fire.

Next Time Talk To The Point

At the close of last week, the 1960 civil rights bill finally was signed into law. It had caused the longest, bitterest and most useless debate of the current congressional session.

This has been made necessary because the plain intent of basic and statutory law had been disregarded systematically in some sections of the country, at the expense of minority groups.

Is it anything short of remarkable that Congress should have wasted its time in 1960 debating whether or not to outlaw bombing and to uphold federal court orders, when these points already were covered in other laws?

Such inconsistencies are enforced on Congress because the 14th and 15th amendments to the Constitution are scoffed at in sections of the United States where they do not suit the purposes of the political majority.

These sections laugh at the provision in the 14th amendment that says representation in Congress shall be based on the number of persons permitted to vote. They scoff at the 15th amendment, which says citizenship rights shall not be abridged by reason of race, color, or previous condition of servitude.

Yet, they lack the courage to come to Congress with proposals to repeal these amendments. They prefer to nullify their effect with restrictive local laws and practices in violation of federal laws, then to complain that "power-made despots" in Washington are riding roughshod over them if they are rebuked.

There always has been on simple, direct way to resolve this issue between Constitutionalists and anti-Constitutionalists. It is for the latter to demand repeal of the two constitutional amendments that gall them.

They will never do this, because they would be laughed out of countenance. But it should be the firm if undeclared "sense" of the U.S. Senate and House of Representatives that they should be given no further hearings until they talk about the issue instead of around it.

Congress never again should be made to go through the indignity of passing laws to prohibit things all other citizens thought had been prohibited.

It Was A Mighty Victory

Technically, World War II in Europe ended on May 8, 1945, at 11:01 Central European time. Actually, the war had been over since 2:41 of the day before—and that was to be the first of a series of doubts about World War II that have become no easier to bear as time passed.

The doubts come to a climax with the doubt that the Allies won the war at all, everything considered. It is pointed out in support of the doubt that West Germany is prospering, Italy is prospering and Japan is prospering. Even Austria is doing well.

France has had a hard time. Britain has had grave economic trouble. The Soviet Union still cringes at the specter of famine. China is swallowed up in the dictatorship of its Communist masters. But this kind of reasoning conveniently omits consideration of what would have happened if the Allies had not won the war.

It is not enough to take part in speculation that no country can win a war. That's true. But a country can lose a war, and there is no guarantee that losers always will be as lucky as Germany, Italy, Japan and Austria, which are prosperous now only because they lost their war to the United States, which thereupon made their rehabilitation its first order of business.

There might be sometime a foreign policy geared to the probability that losing a war to the United States is one of the most fortunate thangs that can happen to a country with vexing internal problems. Not only are the problems set aside but new problems are eased and softened by the salve of reconstruction which Americans need for their own consciences even more than it is needed by the defeated nations.

On the 15th anniversary of the end of World War II in Europe, no one can be sure who really won. But every American can be sure that if his country had lost the Axis powers would have made sure by this time that the defeat never would be forgotten.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Shakespeare's "Julius Caesar" is to be done on the home screen. Commercial interruptions being what they are, we expect the following:

Caesar: Let me have men about me that are fat and sleep at night.

(Voice: Yes, if you are underweight and have trouble sleeping, tired blood can be the reason, etc.)

1st Conspirator: The work in hand is bloody.

Story moves to the Roman capital and, as the plotters prepare to assassinate Caesar, the scene abruptly changes to a laboratory as pitchman says, "Are you jittery, nervous and excitable? Eight out of ten doctors recommend, etc."

Mark Anthony (at the funeral scene): Friends, Romans, countrymen, lend me your ears.

(Voice: Speaking of lending, whenever you need a loan of any kind be sure to contact your friendly banker, etc., etc.)

Antony: I come to bury Caesar, not to praise him.

(Voice: When you care enough it pays to send the very best. We will return to Mark Antony in just a moment.)

Antony: If you have tears, prepare to shed them now.

(Voice: Always keep a supply of extra soft facial tissue handy, and act now as the supply is limited.)

And then to the battlefields of Philippi with Antony's concluding tribute to Brutus: "This was the noblest Roman of them all."

(Voice: (OF NO OTHER BRAND CAN WE MAKE THAT STATEMENT.)

Looks like students in numerous places don't want diplomas as much as live ammunition. From 14 years up the boys and girls have intimate knowledge of global events and no parent is surprised if Little Wilfred instead of asking, "Can I go on a picnic tomorrow?" asks, "What's new in Istanbul?" They seem to have reached the conviction that adults over 30 have made a mess of things and that at 40 they qualify as dangerous characters. They could be right.

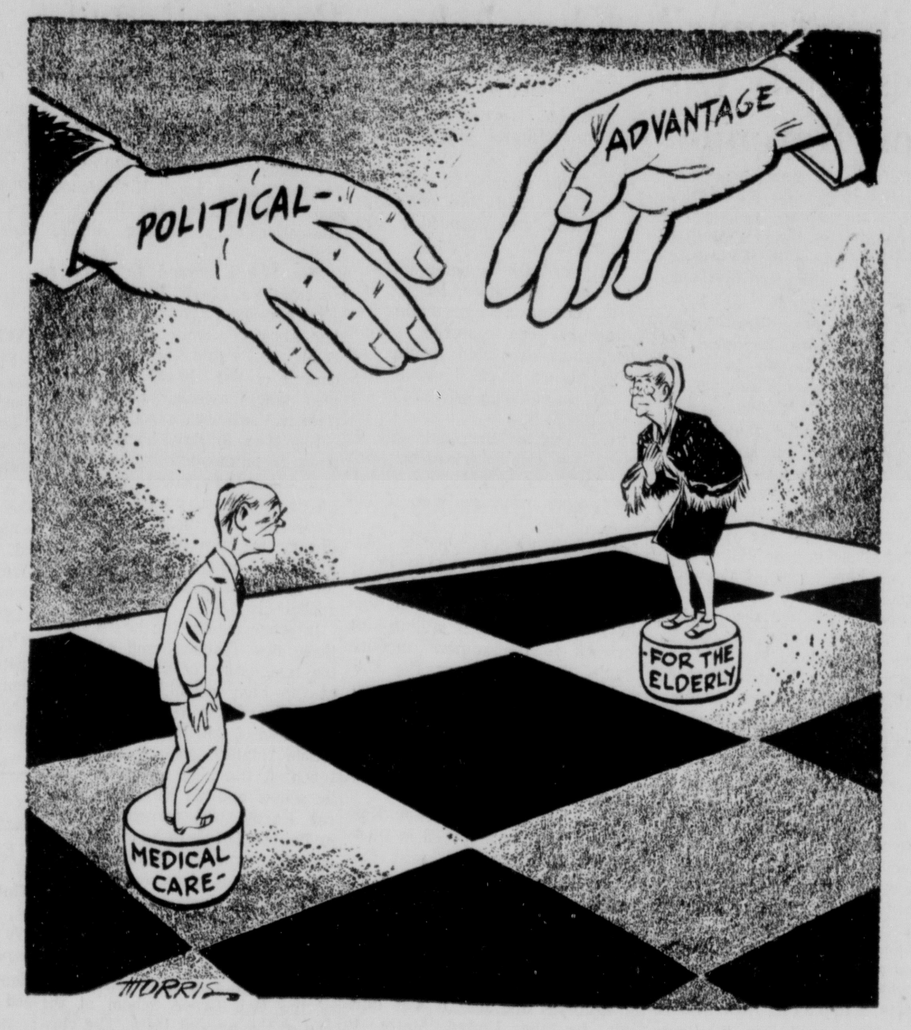
A Grim Game



Americans Get 'Going Over' In Egypt

By Victor Riesel

There is now documentary evidence and personal testimony in the hands of this columnist proving that many an American has been brutalized by the Egyptian secret police.

Victor Riesel

These Americans — who sped to the Suez Canal to open the big ditch after the brief battling there — first told their tales of persecution to the U. S. State Department officials in the Middle East. But these diplomats apparently have developed — or have been ordered to develop — a Sphinx-like attitude towards those who complain against the government of Col. Nasser.

The State Department officers did nothing to help American harbor and river pilots who were jailed, spied on, stripped of their possessions and bank accounts and tossed out of the Suez Canal Zone in violation of their contracts.

EVER SINCE the Seafarers International Union, under the utterly fearless leadership of Paul Hall, created a global crisis by picketing the Arab ship, Cleopatra, in New York Harbor, I've been piecing together the brutality of Nasser's secret police.

I have the statement of a former Polish Freedom Fighter, Capt. Andrew Myslakowski, who was one of 110 pilots from 16 lands hired by Nasser's canal company to pilot ships through the locks there.

Capt. Myslakowski, over this signature, charges:

"Security police run the canal under Mahmud Yunes. The old and trained employes who learned the job during the old administration were relegated to minor posts and the army and police officers moved in on top positions. They are a most fanatical and ignorant lot.

"All of us foreigners were constantly spied on. Our incoming and outgoing mail was opened. Telephones were tapped. Servants were ordered to report weekly to the police and tell whom we saw, what we talked about in our homes, etc."

Capt. Myslakowski, an active member of the AFL-CIO Masters, Mates and Pilots, states that there are no unions in the Arab lands, as we know labor organizations.

They are all government agencies "such as existed under the Nazis and now under the Soviet government."

Therefore, the captain says that talk in the Arab lands of labor retaliation against the AFL-CIO Seafarers' picketing and against the AFL-CIO Executive Council's backing of this boycott actually is official action by Col Nasser.

THE CAPTAIN, now an American citizen, cites as an example the Syndicate (Union) of Canal Employes. It was headed by Chief Pilot Mustafa Elwi.

In '58 as "union" chief, he tried to protect against Nasser's slashing in half all canal employes' salaries. Elwi complained to the canal authority. Soon Chief Pilot Elwi "was worked over by the police to such an extent that he had a heart attack. He was told he's be run down by an army truck."

There is evidence that three American canal pilots were suddenly arrested, jailed and then rushed aboard an outgoing plane.

Capt. Myslakowski reports that they were ousted "for trying to protest against the repeated violations of the terms of their contract with the Suez Canal Authority. They were forced to leave behind them their personal belongings, furniture and bank accounts."

When the canal's efficiency suffered, ships ran aground and canal banks began slipping into the water, the U.S. saw to it that two American dredging companies went to Nasser's aid.

The manager of this operation, an American by the name of George J. Turner, was ousted suddenly by Nasser's Interior Ministry.

During all this time there has been a "constant and vitriolic anti-U. S. propaganda" sponsored by Nasser. Small wonder the American seafaring men finally decided to hit back. Apparently no one else was interested.

What About The Others?

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

But what about the ones that got away?

This must be on Premier Nikita Khrushchev's mind at the very moment he is patting himself on the back with the claim of shooting down an American spy-plane over the Soviet Union.

It was an event which, for various reasons, shocked the world.

But this event, because of Khrushchev's propaganda genius and our own State Department's clumsiness, has been blown far out of its true proportions, and for this reason:

Soviets spy on this country, this country spies on the Soviet Union. This time an American plane was caught doing it. Other times Soviet agents were caught here.

The only real achievement in all this was the propaganda use Khrushchev made of it. Yet, if the truth were known, he probably suffered a shock himself.

Monday Christian A. Herter, secretary of state, admitted this country for years has been sending spy-planes along the edges of the Communist world and sometimes deep into it, too.

This doesn't make the Soviet military look good. While Khrushchev can boast of one American plane knocked out of the skies, others for years were able to fly in over the Soviet Union, fulfill a spy mission, and get away untouched.

Monday night Khrushchev revealed "we took to task" some of the Soviet military who, he said, let a chance slip by to shoot down another American plane which he said was over Communist territory April 9.

In the first place, the timing of the plane's mission over the Soviet Union was appallingly bad. It was sent on its mission just a few days before President Eisenhower was to meet Khrushchev at the summit in Paris. They meet Monday.

There was the chance the plane would be nailed, with all that involved. It was nailed and it enabled Khrushchev to point to this country as a treacherous antagonist at the moment Eisenhower was getting ready for the summit.

Then Khrushchev ran into a better bargain: This government, apparently assuming the pilot was dead and Khrushchev couldn't prove anything, put out a feeble explanation: That maybe the pilot had lost consciousness for lack of oxygen and was carried over the Soviet Union by his unguided plane.

The State Department also tried something else which, as the department itself demonstrated later, was a lie. It said there was never any "attempt to deliberately violate Soviet air space."

Khrushchev was waiting for something like this. He moved in. He announced the spy-plane pilot, Francis G. Powers, had been captured and admitted spying.

Caught flat-footed, the State Department tried to alibi its way out. It admitted Powers might have been spying but that "insofar as the authorities in Washington are concerned there was no authorization for any such flight described by Mr. Khrushchev."

This raised immediate questions here and abroad: What goes on here? Doesn't Eisenhower know? Were military leaders or others carrying out spying without his knowledge or approval?

So the department had to clean this one up to show Eisenhower was in command. Herter said Monday American planes, under Eisenhower's general directives to gather information by every possible means, have carried out spy missions around and over the Soviet Union, although Eisenhower didn't authorize specific missions.

All this really meant was that while Eisenhower approved the spying in general he left it to others to carry out the details.

But—remembering all the spying being carried out by the Soviet Union, past and present—if Khrushchev tries to get too self-righteous about this case, Eisenhower can say to him: Look who's talking.

Americans can no longer poke fun, as they formerly did, at the British custom of interrupting the work for "a spot of tea." According to estimate, more than 35 million Americans now stop work every morning for a cup or two of coffee.

There are almost a billion and a half pencils used every year in the United States, or about eight pencils for every man, woman and child.

Khrushchev's Choice

By David Lawrence

He Has Decided In Favor Of More Tension

Nikita Khrushchev had two courses open to him. He could play down for the time being the case of the U.S. unarmed plane, so as not to jeopardize the success of the summit conference. Or he could add to the international tension created by his speech at Baku recently when he threatened anew to make a separate peace with East Germany.

David Lawrence

The Soviet Premier decided in favor of more tension, more friction and more propaganda of a provocative nature against the very governments with whom he is supposed to be striving to make a peaceful settlement of outstanding issues.

Why did he do it? Because the Soviet premier relies on bluster and bluff. He thinks the peoples of the West are in the midst of a defeatist mood and that he can get what he wants without war.

As for the American government's admission that the plane was traveling on an intelligence errand, why should this be such a sensation?

It isn't the first time the carrying on of intelligence activities has been publicly acknowledged by the United States. Not long ago a Senate committee talked for several days about various intelligence estimates on the missile production of the Soviets. How else was the information obtained except through the usual activities of intelligence agents paid for by the United States government?

INDEED, Soviet Premier Khrushchev himself has previously commented in public on the Soviet intelligence operations. It will be recalled that, at a White House dinner on Sept. 16 last, Mr. Khrushchev was introduced by Vice President Nixon to Allen Dulles, director of U.S. Intelligence. They had a long talk. Two days later the press reported that Mr. Khrushchev had said jocularly:

"Oh yes, I know you (Allen Dulles). I read your reports."

"I hope you get them legally," replied the director of American Intelligence.

"We all have the same agents," bantered the Soviet premier, "and we both pay them and hence we ought to get together and save money."

The reference, of course, was to the "double agent" technique in espionage, wherein the agent of one country succumbs to bribery and, while ostensibly continuing his operations against another country, reveals to both sides a part of the information he gathers.

The episode, however, shows clearly that Mr. Khrushchev is certainly not naive about intelligence work. In fact, he is the head of the biggest spy system in the world, which operates not only inside the United States and other western countries but throughout Latin America as is evidenced by the outcropping of well-organized communist activities in Cuba.

The Soviet government sends submarines to Canadian waters to interrupt or intercept transatlantic cables, and puts trawlers in New England waters to spy on our Polaris submarines.

THE SOVIET PREMIER, in his latest speech about the ill-fated airplane incident, revealed that he was well aware of the criticism that might come his way if he magnified a routine occurrence in intelligence work so as to pull off a propaganda maneuver. He said:

"Now I read in the press that they are accusing me of trying to sabotage the meeting of the heads of governments; otherwise, I would not have raised this fact at the session of the Supreme Soviet. It is said I would have raised this question along other channels."

The Soviet premier then insisted he just had to reveal it all, but he gave no persuasive reason. Indeed, he went on unwittingly to confirm the American reasoning behind the affair, as expressed in the State Department's comment last Saturday declaring that intelligence observation wouldn't be necessary if the "open skies" proposal of the United States had been adopted. Mr. Khrushchev said:

"What could have driven the Americans to such an unwise step? . . . It is known that the American 'open skies' proposal was rejected by us. Then the United States militarists decided to open up the Soviet skies for themselves. But there are international laws. There are such things as national frontiers, and no one is permitted to disregard these laws and invade other countries."

Yet the Soviets are "invading" other countries every day. The United States proposed in 1955 that international law cover mutual inspection systems by airplanes so as to detect in advance any potential attack. Almost everything in the free world — like missile sites — is open to observation but the Soviets have consistently refused to agree to mutual inspection of an effective character for nuclear testing or general disarmament.

Until there is mutual trust, there can be no real progress toward disarmament, either through summit conferences or otherwise.

The gathering of military intelligence is, therefore, necessary in the meantime to protect the American people against surprise attack by the Soviets, who have an advantage because they know the United States will never strike "the first blow."

No Man's Land

One of those oddments of information that brighten newspapers glittered in an obscure corner the other day and now is folded up in my wallet.

The reason for keeping it there is absurd.

It exlpains something that has infuriated so many people that some day there will be big trouble. When it comes, the newspaper clipping can be produced.

But by then everybody will be so hopping mad no one will look at a newspaper clipping. They will stuff it up my nose after they have beaten me senseless in their rage — and I would do the same in their circumstances.

This is what the clipping says:

That Dr. Arthur Couch and Dr. Kenneth Keniston of Harvard report in the Journal of Abnormal and Social Psychology that yes-men are shy of self-control and easily respond to suggestions, whereas no-men reject attempts to influence their emotions. Yes-men learned to depend heavily on outside control when young and therefore indulge themselves as adults in the gratification of impulse; they get a kick out of going along with what is proposed. No-men, when young, began to think for themselves even while their parents were still exerting control. When they grew up, they didn't have to say yes to make themselves feel as if they at last were being their own boss.

The clipping takes some of the shine off yes-men and gives a no-man the feeling he is something a little better than a dirty, rotten, stubborn, perverse, sour, mixed-up, contrary spoilsport. This should make it clear that the clipping about the Harvard doctors is in my wallet because a dirty, rotten, stubborn, perverse, sour, mixed-up, contrary spoilsport is on the defensive.

No one likes to have us around. The grating sound of our contrary opinions is like a file rubbed over glass. When everybody else is yelling, "Hurrah!" we murmur, "Nuts" and turn our backs.

Conversely, when everybody else is murmuring, "Nuts," we have an annoying habit of murmuring, "This is beginning to make sense."

We do this because we were born this way. We do not want to be unpleasant. We do not want to make yes-men unhappy, nor do we want to be included out because we are jackals among lions, wolves among sheep etc.

It just makes more sense to us to say "No." There are times when we envy the yes-men, but then we hear about the confidence game or someone who caught a 40-pound fish on a half-ounce lure and are as happy with our lot as our sour dispositions will let us be.

There's no future for us and not much past. The way the world goes, it's always been more advisable to go along with the prevailing wind than to buck it. Hence the clipping.

Thank you, Drs. Couch and Keniston of good old Harvard. There may be something in what you say, though I doubt it. Anyway, it may be useful to have a clipping about your opinion. It might help the police department to understand why I refused to go quietly the day I said "No" once too often and was accused of provoking assault by the yes-men who finally gave it to me — good. They've got it coming.

Fighting Fire With Fire

The worst aspect of the "spy plane" incident was the timing.

Of all the times an American picture-taking jet might have got caught red-handed over Russian territory, it happened on the eve of the Paris summit conference to promote world peace.

But it is encouraging to note that President Eisenhower and his diplomatic advisers are exploring ways of turning a colossal blunder into a conference-table advantage.

For more than a week, Nikita Khrushchev has been beating the drums of the cold war once again in the long Russian history of alternately breathing hatred and sweetness whenever the occasion seemed to demand.

It is obvious that Khrushchev has come to the conclusion that the West does not intend to back down on Berlin, or anything else of importance, at the summit meeting. Thus he has been haranguing his citizens with new blasts at the West in general and the United States in particular in the traditional Red custom of throwing up propaganda smoke screens before a face-to-face encounter.

If Khrushchev can't gain some advantage, there is no use having a conference, as far as he is concerned.

THE FACT that the United States had aerial observation over Russia should be no surprise to Americans. Ever since World War II, this nation has operated the highly efficient Central Intelligence Agency under the direction of Allen Dulles. It has reported publicly on Soviet nuclear explosions and privately on many other bits of military and economic information. Americans would be entitled to complain if this nation did NOT have any information-gathering sources.

The Russians themselves have the broadest espionage network of any of the modern nations. Their submarines and surface ships have been sighted many times off American coasts. Their individuals have little difficulty getting into this country and even into critical industries, as evidenced by the loss of some of our atomic secrets and other information through such convicted spies as the Rosenbergs and Red Col. Rudolph Abel.

Khrushchev is the last person in the world entitled to complain that another nation is trying to take a peek at what his country is doing. He may know a great deal more about us than we know about Russia. If he doesn't, it is not because he has not tried with every trick in the book.

The great mistakes by this country lay in creating an opportunity to be caught at this particular moment and then trying initially to alibi our way out with false information. This gave Khrushchev a greater platform in his unrelenting propaganda campaign to take everything and give nothing at across-the-table meetings.

BUT PRESIDENT EISENHOWER now shows signs of turning the Khrushchev attack into a boomerang. Caught off-guard by the shooting down of the plane, we may very well have caught the Russian boss off-guard by admitting that what he says is true.

For this admission gives the President a new platform for repeating his frequent charge that the Reds are responsible for world tensions because their excessive secrecy breeds mistrust.

At a summit conference to be devoted primarily to disarmament, Mr. Eisenhower will be in a better position to show up the hollowness of Premier Khrushchev's talk. The President can plug for his own "open skies" proposal more aggressively, instead of leaving the floor open to Khrushchev all the time.

If this is to be the Eisenhower strategy, it is the kind of propaganda move this nation has needed to meet the verbal trickery of the Reds: a bold daring action to turn an apparent setback into an advantage.

It is fighting fire with fire.

Next Time Talk To The Point

At the close of last week, the 1960 civil rights bill finally was signed into law. It had caused the longest, bitterest and most useless debate of the current congressional session.

This has been made necessary because the plain intent of basic and statutory law had been disregarded systematically in some sections of the country, at the expense of minority groups.

Is it anything short of remarkable that Congress should have wasted its time in 1960 debating whether or not to outlaw bombing and to uphold federal court orders, when these points already were covered in other laws?

Such inconsistencies are enforced on Congress because the 14th and 15th amendments to the Constitution are scoffed at in sections of the United States where they do not suit the purposes of the political majority.

These sections laugh at the provision in the 14th amendment that says representation in Congress shall be based on the number of persons permitted to vote. They scoff at the 15th amendment, which says citizenship rights shall not be abridged by reason of race, color, or previous condition of servitude.

Yet, they lack the courage to come to Congress with proposals to repeal these amendments. They prefer to nullify their effect with restrictive local laws and practices in violation of federal laws, then to complain that "power-made despots" in Washington are riding roughshod over them if they are rebuked.

There always has been on simple, direct way to resolve this issue between Constitutionalists and anti-Constitutionalists. It is for the latter to demand repeal of the two constitutional amendments that gall them.

They will never do this, because they would be laughed out of countenance. But it should be the firm if undeclared "sense" of the U.S. Senate and House of Representatives that they should be given no further hearings until they talk about the issue instead of around it.

Congress never again should be made to go through the indignity of passing laws to prohibit things all other citizens thought had been prohibited.

It Was A Mighty Victory

Technically, World War II in Europe ended on May 8, 1945, at 11:01 Central European time. Actually, the war had been over since 2:41 of the day before—and that was to be the first of a series of doubts about World War II that have become no easier to bear as time passed.

The doubts come to a climax with the doubt that the Allies won the war at all, everything considered. It is pointed out in support of the doubt that West Germany is prospering, Italy is prospering and Japan is prospering. Even Austria is doing well.

France has had a hard time. Britain has had grave economic trouble. The Soviet Union still cringes at the specter of famine. China is swallowed up in the dictatorship of its Communist masters. But this kind of reasoning conveniently omits consideration of what would have happened if the Allies had not won the war.

It is not enough to take part in speculation that no country can win a war. That's true. But a country can lose a war, and there is no guarantee that losers always will be as lucky as Germany, Italy, Japan and Austria, which are prosperous now only because they lost their war to the United States, which thereupon made their rehabilitation its first order of business.

There might be sometime a foreign policy geared to the probability that losing a war to the United States is one of the most fortunate thangs that can happen to a country with vexing internal problems. Not only are the problems set aside but new problems are eased and softened by the salve of reconstruction which Americans need for their own consciences even more than it is needed by the defeated nations.

On the 15th anniversary of the end of World War II in Europe, no one can be sure who really won. But every American can be sure that if his country had lost the Axis powers would have made sure by this time that the defeat never would be forgotten.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Shakespeare's "Julius Caesar" is to be done on the home screen. Commercial interruptions being what they are, we expect the following:

Caesar: Let me have men about me that are fat and sleep at night.

(Voice: Yes, if you are underweight and have trouble sleeping, tired blood can be the reason, etc.)

1st Conspirator: The work in hand is bloody.

Story moves to the Roman capital and, as the plotters prepare to assassinate Caesar, the scene abruptly changes to a laboratory as pitchman says, "Are you jittery, nervous and excitable? Eight out of ten doctors recommend, etc."

Mark Anthony (at the funeral scene): Friends, Romans, countrymen, lend me your ears.

(Voice: Speaking of lending, whenever you need a loan of any kind be sure to contact your friendly banker, etc., etc.)

Antony: I come to bury Caesar, not to praise him.

(Voice: When you care enough it pays to send the very best. We will return to Mark Antony in just a moment.)

Antony: If you have tears, prepare to shed them now.

(Voice: Always keep a supply of extra soft facial tissue handy, and act now as the supply is limited.)

And then to the battlefields of Philippi with Antony's concluding tribute to Brutus: "This was the noblest Roman of them all."

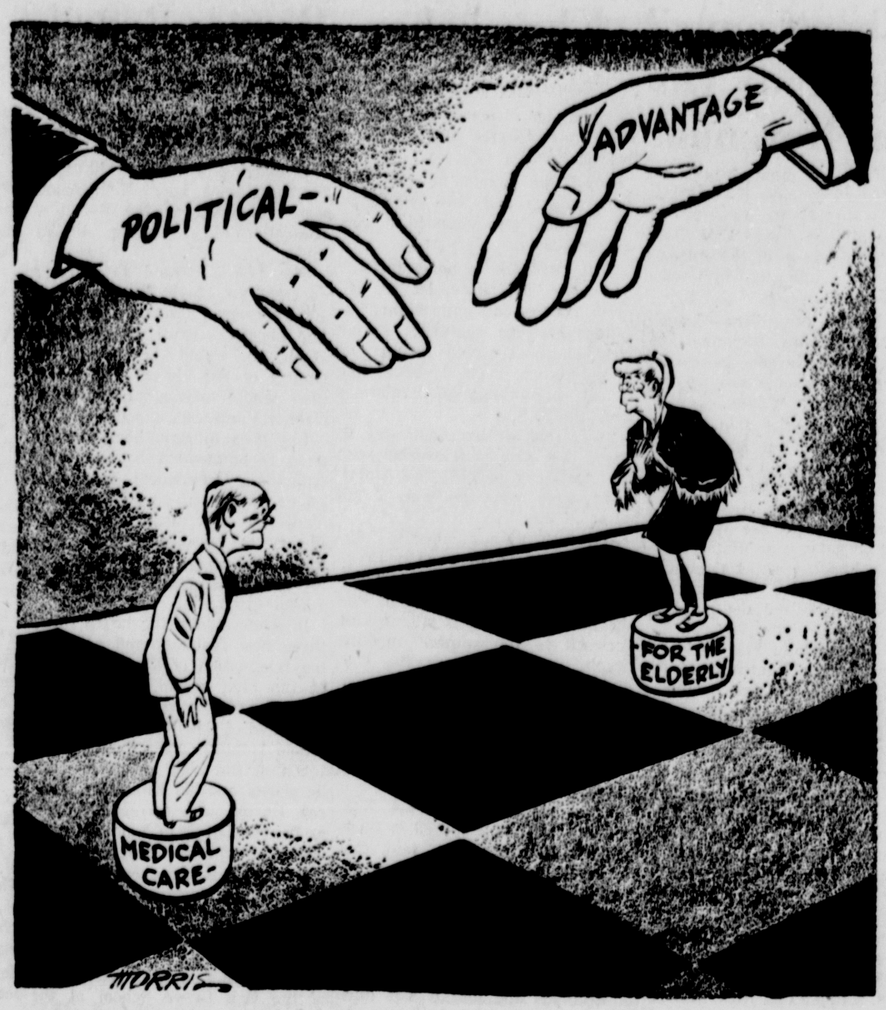
(Voice: (OF NO OTHER BRAND CAN WE MAKE THAT STATEMENT.)

Looks like students in numerous places don't want diplomas as much as live ammunition. From 14 years up the boys and girls have intimate knowledge of global events and no parent is surprised if Little Wilfred instead of asking, "Can I go on a picnic tomorrow?" asks, "What's new in Istanbul?" They seem to have reached the conviction that adults over 30 have made a mess of things and that at 40 they qualify as dangerous characters. They could be right.

Fifty four U.N. delegates took the day off for visit to the Bronx Zoo. They were amazed at the way the wild animals got along without procedural rules, walkouts or abstentions.

Air raid test cleared streets of big cities fairly fast. But there were some slowpokes. There was the gal who asked, "What're they clearing the streets for?" and got an answer from a companion, "They're using 'em for a Hollywood movie scene."

A Grim Game



Americans Get 'Going Over' In Egypt

By Victor Riesel

There is now documentary evidence and personal testimony in the hands of this columnist proving that many an American has been brutalized by the Egyptian secret police.

Victor Riesel

These Americans — who sped to the Suez Canal to open the big ditch after the brief battling there — first told their tales of persecution to the U. S. State Department officials in the Middle East. But these diplomats apparently have developed — or have been ordered to develop — a Sphinx-like attitude towards those who complain against the government of Col. Nasser.

The State Department officers did nothing to help American harbor and river pilots who were jailed, spied on, stripped of their possessions and bank accounts and tossed out of the Suez Canal Zone in violation of their contracts.

EVER SINCE the Seafarers International Union, under the utterly fearless leadership of Paul Hall, created a global crisis by picketing the Arab ship, Cleopatra, in New York Harbor, I've been piecing together the brutality of Nasser's secret police.

I have the statement of a former Polish Freedom Fighter, Capt. Andrew Myslakowski, who was one of 110 pilots from 16 lands hired by Nasser's canal company to pilot ships through the locks there.

Capt. Myslakowski, over this signature, charges:

"Security police run the canal under Mahmud Yunes. The old and trained employes who learned the job during the old administration were relegated to minor posts and the army and police officers moved in on top positions. They are a most fanatical and ignorant lot.

"All of us foreigners were constantly spied on. Our incoming and outgoing mail was opened. Telephones were tapped. Servants were ordered to report weekly to the police and tell whom we saw, what we talked about in our homes, etc."

Capt. Myslakowski, an active member of the AFL-CIO Masters, Mates and Pilots, states that there are no unions in the Arab lands, as we know labor organizations.

They are all government agencies "such as existed under the Nazis and now under the Soviet government."

Therefore, the captain says that talk in the Arab lands of labor retaliation against the AFL-CIO Seafarers' picketing and against the AFL-CIO Executive Council's backing of this boycott actually is official action by Col Nasser.

THE CAPTAIN, now an American citizen, cites as an example the Syndicate (Union) of Canal Employes. It was headed by Chief Pilot Mustafa Elwi.

In '58 as "union" chief, he tried to protect against Nasser's slashing in half all canal employes' salaries. Elwi complained to the canal authority. Soon Chief Pilot Elwi "was worked over by the police to such an extent that he had a heart attack. He was told he's be run down by an army truck."

There is evidence that three American canal pilots were suddenly arrested, jailed and then rushed aboard an outgoing plane.

Capt. Myslakowski reports that they were ousted "for trying to protest against the repeated violations of the terms of their contract with the Suez Canal Authority. They were forced to leave behind them their personal belongings, furniture and bank accounts."

When the canal's efficiency suffered, ships ran aground and canal banks began slipping into the water, the U.S. saw to it that two American dredging companies went to Nasser's aid.

The manager of this operation, an American by the name of George J. Turner, was ousted suddenly by Nasser's Interior Ministry.

During all this time there has been a "constant and vitriolic anti-U. S. propaganda" sponsored by Nasser. Small wonder the American seafaring men finally decided to hit back. Apparently no one else was interested.

What About The Others?

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

But what about the ones that got away?

This must be on Premier Nikita Khrushchev's mind at the very moment he is patting himself on the back with the claim of shooting down an American spy-plane over the Soviet Union.

It was an event which, for various reasons, shocked the world.

But this event, because of Khrushchev's propaganda genius and our own State Department's clumsiness, has been blown far out of its true proportions, and for this reason:

Soviets spy on this country, this country spies on the Soviet Union. This time an American plane was caught doing it. Other times Soviet agents were caught here.

The only real achievement in all this was the propaganda use Khrushchev made of it. Yet, if the truth were known, he probably suffered a shock himself.

Monday Christian A. Herter, secretary of state, admitted this country for years has been sending spy-planes along the edges of the Communist world and sometimes deep into it, too.

This doesn't make the Soviet military look good. While Khrushchev can boast of one American plane knocked out of the skies, others for years were able to fly in over the Soviet Union, fulfill a spy mission, and get away untouched.

Monday night Khrushchev revealed "we took to task" some of the Soviet military who, he said, let a chance slip by to shoot down another American plane which he said was over Communist territory April 9.

In the first place, the timing of the plane's mission over the Soviet Union was appallingly bad. It was sent on its mission just a few days before President Eisenhower was to meet Khrushchev at the summit in Paris. They meet Monday.

There was the chance the plane would be nailed, with all that involved. It was nailed and it enabled Khrushchev to point to this country as a treacherous antagonist at the moment Eisenhower was getting ready for the summit.

Then Khrushchev ran into a better bargain: This government, apparently assuming the pilot was dead and Khrushchev couldn't prove anything, put out a feeble explanation: That maybe the pilot had lost consciousness for lack of oxygen and was carried over the Soviet Union by his unguided plane.

The State Department also tried something else which, as the department itself demonstrated later, was a lie. It said there was never any "attempt to deliberately violate Soviet air space."

Khrushchev was waiting for something like this. He moved in. He announced the spy-plane pilot, Francis G. Powers, had been captured and admitted spying.

Caught flat-footed, the State Department tried to alibi its way out. It admitted Powers might have been spying but that "insofar as the authorities in Washington are concerned there was no authorization for any such flight described by Mr. Khrushchev."

This raised immediate questions here and abroad: What goes on here? Doesn't Eisenhower know? Were military leaders or others carrying out spying without his knowledge or approval?

So the department had to clean this one up to show Eisenhower was in command. Herter said Monday American planes, under Eisenhower's general directives to gather information by every possible means, have carried out spy missions around and over the Soviet Union, although Eisenhower didn't authorize specific missions.

All this really meant was that while Eisenhower approved the spying in general he left it to others to carry out the details.

But—remembering all the spying being carried out by the Soviet Union, past and present—if Khrushchev tries to get too self-righteous about this case, Eisenhower can say to him: Look who's talking.

Americans can no longer poke fun, as they formerly did, at the British custom of interrupting the work for "a spot of tea." According to estimate, more than 35 million Americans now stop work every morning for a cup or two of coffee.

There are almost a billion and a half pencils used every year in the United States, or about eight pencils for every man, woman and child.

Khrushchev's Choice

By David Lawrence

He Has Decided In Favor Of More Tension

Nikita Khrushchev had two courses open to him. He could play down for the time being the case of the U.S. unarmed plane, so as not to jeopardize the success of the summit conference. Or he could add to the international tension created by his speech at Baku recently when he threatened anew to make a separate peace with East Germany.

David Lawrence

The Soviet Premier decided in favor of more tension, more friction and more propaganda of a provocative nature against the very governments with whom he is supposed to be striving to make a peaceful settlement of outstanding issues.

Why did he do it? Because the Soviet premier relies on bluster and bluff. He thinks the peoples of the West are in the midst of a defeatist mood and that he can get what he wants without war.

As for the American government's admission that the plane was traveling on an intelligence errand, why should this be such a sensation?

It isn't the first time the carrying on of intelligence activities has been publicly acknowledged by the United States. Not long ago a Senate committee talked for several days about various intelligence estimates on the missile production of the Soviets. How else was the information obtained except through the usual activities of intelligence agents paid for by the United States government?

INDEED, Soviet Premier Khrushchev himself has previously commented in public on the Soviet intelligence operations. It will be recalled that, at a White House dinner on Sept. 16 last, Mr. Khrushchev was introduced by Vice President Nixon to Allen Dulles, director of U.S. Intelligence. They had a long talk. Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

Calm, Indifference May Curb Tantrum

Yesterday we considered ways to prevent tantrums in the young child — by not rewarding him for his rage and by drawing the line carefully between getting him to do what you want him to do and keeping him from doing what he is forbidden to do. But suppose your youngster of one, four or six is in a rage right now. What are you going to do? Your impulse is to force him to quit acting that way. You may even decide to spank him. If he rarely had thrown a tantrum before, the shock, if quick and decisive, might work. But the chances are it will only fire his rage. If, however, your tot in a rage endangered property or other persons, even himself, you should curb him effectively.

By Garry Meyer.

IN VERY RARE instances you might be able to divert his attention. But, as a rule, the more you talk the angrier he will get.

Your best bet is to work on yourself so that you show no feeling or concern about his tantrums and act as unemotionally as if you were a wooden post.

I once saw a father, when his three-year-old son rolled and kicked in a rage on the floor, step over this child as if he were a log and walk, as if on an errand, to another room. The youngster almost immediately got up and walked quietly away.

Suppose, while in a rage, your infant passes out:

If it's the first time you have seen this, you may not know whether it's a convulsion or a tantrum. About this you should seek your physician's advice.

Naturally, he will ask you if the child's strange behavior occurred without any apparent cause, or when he was hurt, frightened or angered. If obviously the latter, he will probably label it a tantrum.

OF COURSE, he will want to examine the child before ruling out convulsions. But the average parent usually recognizes a tantrum after seeing one several times, especially in the youngster of one, two or three.

A child eight, 12 or 16 in a tantrum may, instead of crying, screaming, striking or kicking aimlessly, attack with abusive words. A parent then will hardly find force effective. Because the child is already enraged and the parent may also be, it might end up in a pathetic physical fight.

A wiser way, as a rule, is for the parent to say nothing during the child's rage and act as if nothing unusual is happening. Acting neither angry nor hurt, the parent should wait for a later time when both she and the child are calm and reasonable.

THEN SHE might prevail on this child to choose not to act in such a way again, especially if she also were able to cultivate a more companionable relationship with him over the next few months or years. However, more powerful than any talking will be the parents' self-mastery when the child is enraged.

Of course children ten to 14 hardly would speak abusively to their parents if they had not been allowed to do so when they were four or five.

My bulletins "Tantrums: Prevention and Correction" and "How to Control Your Temper," may be had by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of this newspaper.

Gov. Long Retires Today From Louisiana 'Throne'

By KEN DAVIS

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — Earl Kemp Long—rumpled rebel of the pea patch — leaves the throne room of Louisiana politics today. Already he's planning his return as governor four years from now.

Until then, the 64-year-old retiring governor will divide his restless waking hours between the upstate farm he calls his pea patch and an apartment within sight of the capitol.

It's the turn of Jimmie H. Davis, singer and businessman, to be governor of the land of the bayous.

In this land of uncertain and devious politics, one thing seemed certain: Gov. Davis would not equal in color and calamity the term just completed by Earl Long. Hardly anyone could do this.

Remember a few days back when President Charles de Gaulle of France paid a sentimental visit to New Orleans, the Paris of the South. In a few hours, Gov. Long managed to walk out before De Gaulle spoke at a luncheon, steal some of the spotlight by riding in a parade in his white convertible and give the reception committee failing hearts with assorted attention-getting antics.

Now there were some who saw Gov. Long's performance at the De Gaulle affair as the misguided and aimless act of a man who was a patient at mental hospitals in two states last summer. Other observers saw them as the canny beginning of the governor's program to run again in four years.

He didn't deny the latter view a week ago during a brief talk with newspapermen en route to a race track meet outside New Orleans.

Miller Again Heads Cuyahoga Democrats

CLEVELAND (AP) — Ray T. Miller Sr. was elected chairman of the Cuyahoga County Democratic organization Monday night for his 11th straight term.

Thomas A. Burke; Bernard Friedman, deputy registrar of motor vehicles in this county; State Sen. Julius J. Petrash and three city councilmen.

Results of the 26th State Industrial Education Conference contest held Friday and Saturday were learned Monday.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

Calm, Indifference May Curb Tantrum

Yesterday we considered ways to prevent tantrums in the young child — by not rewarding him for his rage and by drawing the line carefully between getting him to do what you want him to do and keeping him from doing what he is forbidden to do. But suppose your youngster of one, four or six is in a rage right now. What are you going to do? Your impulse is to force him to quit acting that way. You may even decide to spank him. If he rarely had thrown a tantrum before, the shock, if quick and decisive, might work. But the chances are it will only fire his rage. If, however, your tot in a rage endangered property or other persons, even himself, you should curb him effectively.

By Garry Meyer.

FOR OLD TIRED LINOLEUM

It's so easy to put new wear and life in old linoleum. A bright shining coat of Glaxo is the answer.

Nebraska, New Mexico Voting Too

West Virginia Primary Holds Political Spotlight

By The Associated Press

In expected cloudy, cool weather with occasional rain, the voters will decide whether they prefer Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts or Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Nebraska and New Mexico also hold primaries. But neither will have the national impact of the one in West Virginia, where Humphrey and Kennedy completed a weeks-long, turbulent campaign Monday.

Nebraska, however, will affect the presidential race somewhat. It has a presidential preference ballot. But, although write-ins are allowed, the ballot lists only Kennedy.

New Mexico voters will keep away from presidential maneuvering and concern themselves with picking candidates for the jobs of governor, senator, congressmen, and state legislators.

Humphrey, who has been pointing a finger at the wealth of Kennedy, lectured labor leaders in Charleston.

"I have been trying to campaign in West Virginia with a shoestring cut in half," he said. "I haven't got one penny from labor in this state."

"I can't believe that West Virginia, with its great tradition, is going to make its judgment on the basis of religion," he said.

"If people will look at the voting record, instead of clever advertising propaganda," said Humphrey, "they will see it is Kennedy, not I, who can't win for the Democrats in November."

Kennedy, who has often said that a vote for Humphrey is a vote thrown away, put it this way Monday: "If Mr. Humphrey wins (in West Virginia), the chances of somebody being nominated who doesn't understand the problem of West Virginia would be greatly enhanced."

Most opinion polls have predicted a victory for Humphrey, noting, however, that Kennedy has been closing the gap lately. The state's 25 delegates to the national convention will not be bound by the results.

In Nebraska, Kennedy's total will be compared to that received by Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee four years ago. At that time, Kefauver, like Kennedy today, was the only candidate listed on the ballot.

Kefauver received a 55,265 total or three out of every four Democratic votes. Adlai Stevenson had 3,185 write-ins.

In another political development, a New York Republican source said Monday night that Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller had been offered a top role at the Republican National Convention.

The source said that Republican State Chairman L. Judson Morhouse had been asked informally if the governor would be receptive to a post as keynoter, temporary chairman, or permanent chairman at the July convention in Chicago.

The governor could not be reached for comment.

Driver Fined For Collision

An East End motorist, cited for reckless driving as the aftermath of a 2-car crash early Sunday in the 1900 block on Dresden Ave. in which 5 people were hurt, drew the maximum penalty Monday afternoon in Municipal Court.

Jason C. Hyatt, 24, of 1701 Pennsylvania Ave. was fined $50 and costs and his driver's license was suspended for 30 days by Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff.

Hyatt had pleaded guilty when arraigned yesterday morning but sentencing was delayed until Judge Chertoff could secure additional information about the crash from Patrolman E. R. Ferguson.

Police said Hyatt admitted he was driving too fast for weather conditions, that he was left of center and his windshield wipers weren't working when he crashed into a car driven by Edwin E. Hemelrich of Garrettsville R. D. 2.

Miss Ila Goempel, 207 Haywood St., cited late Saturday afternoon for failing to stop in the assured clear distance after a collision on St. Clair Ave. at Morton St., drew a suspended $25 fine and costs. She had entered a "no contest" plea yesterday morning.

Pete Bello of Steubenville, cited by the State Highway Patrol on May 2 on a similar charge, was given a suspended fine of $10 and costs by Judge Chertoff.

Howard Kay Madison of Salineville R. D. 2, cited by the State Highway Patrol April 23 for speeding 80 miles an hour on Route 7, forfeited a $31 bond.

'Painless' Tuberculin Test Administered To Students

Use of a new "painless" tuberculin serum test on a large scale was inaugurated in Columbiana County for the first time with applications administered to 928 students at the Beaver Local High School and elementary school Monday.

Sponsored by the County Public Health League, the test program was administered to 616 elementary pupils and 321 students in grades 9 to 11 at the high school.

The test serum was applied by a new gun-like device which allows the liquid to seep through the skin, replacing the former longer needle method of the Mantaux test, health league officials pointed out.

Under the procedure, the skin area is cleansed with alcohol, the serum spread on the arm and the device, with six small needles, applied. Officials said there is no pain sensation connected with the application.

The test was administered under the direction of Miss Lillian Schroeder, secretary of the county league, with these nurses in charge: Mrs. Ann Lineberry, Mrs. Barbara Thompson and Mrs. Virginia Torrence of Beaver Local, Mrs. Ruth Gloss of New Waterford and Miss Sybil Degnan of Leetonia.

Five members of the Beaver Local High School Future Nurses chapter assisted. They were Vicky Windel, Judy Ebaugh, Sandy Pozenel, Sue Brooks and Karen Flemming.

Physicians will visit the schools May 12-13 to read the tests, according to George VanHorne, executive head. Swelling or redness of the area indicates a pupil may have been in contact with a person with tuberculosis and a chest X-ray and physical examination would be recommended. Such symptoms do not necessarily indicate the child has the disease, it was explained.

dangerous explanation" because he said it tries to justify and does not denounce such flights.

Washington awaited an official Soviet response—not propaganda utterances—to its note of last Friday asking for full facts from the Soviet inquiry into the incident.

Then the U.S. Embassy in Moscow was expected to follow up by asking to see Francis G. Powers, the downed American pilot who Khrushchev claims has confessed to a planned spy flight across the Soviet Union from Pakistan to Norway.

U.S. officials watched to see whether the Soviet boss would try to stir the incident to a crescendo —perhaps by a spectacular show such as a press conference with Powers or a public trial — and thus heighten tension to the point of wiping away chances for success at the summit parley.

Herter and Allen W. Dulles, head of the Central Intelligence Agency, reported to congressional leaders of both parties at a hurriedly called, secret briefing session Monday while Eisenhower was meeting with his top strategy group, the National Security Council.

He said the reason for the U.S. flights—though they clearly violate international law—is the menace of surprise attack from the Soviet Union.

Mason, agent in charge of the FBI in Cincinnati, said Brown told agents he was "conducting a survey of gambling and racketeering in the northern Kentucky area."

Gas Firm Union To Supply Men For Emergencies

The striking union of the Ohio Valley Gas Co. said today it will supply men for emergency service when there is sickness in a family, if a physician notifies the utility.

The 10-day old strike of maintenance workers against the gas firm in East Liverpool and Steubenville continued with no negotiations in sight.

Thirty-six union employes of Local 12656 of East Liverpool and Local 12319 in Steubenville, District 50 of the United Mine Workers, have been idle since April 30.

A federal conciliator reportedly has been asked to arrange negotiations. Gas services continues normal although supervisory employes have assumed some duties normally done by the striking workers.

In East Liverpool, the union met with management of the utility Monday to work out a suitable clause on emergency situations that may need attention immediately.

William Bleigh, president of the local, said the union supplied Ohio Valley with an emergency crew to investigate a gas odor Saturday on E. 5th St. "The union will continue to supply the gas company with an emergency crew whenever there is a cause to make conditions safe to customers and the public," he said.

Bleigh added that "we feel if there is a sickness in a family and it is endangering their health, we will consider this an emergency, providing it is through a doctor. We will send an emergency man to work the order."

Edwin Jordan Named Student Council Head

Son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Jordan of California Ave., he won over James Eberhart, and succeeds the incumbent, Reid Calcott. Other officers were elected previously, but neither Jordan nor Eberhart had a majority of the total vote.

The other vehicle, driven by Ralph G. Barkley, 54, of Rt. 3, Terre Haute, was traveling in the wrong lane and collided with the Downey car. Barkley and Mrs. Downey were slightly injured.

Two Fined At Chester For Driver Violations

William P. Myers of Liberty Ave., Lawrenceville, was fined $25 and costs for improper registration and $10 costs for lack of a West Virginia driver's license Monday night by Mayor Burton Ward of Chester.

A charge of lack of an inspection sticker was dropped because such a sticker would not be required of a car not registered in the state, Ward said. Myers, who has a Pennsylvania driver's license, was cited Wednesday.

Stanley Lancaster of Chester R. D. 1 was fined $10 and costs for speeding. Both men were cited by Patrolman Clarence Lennens.

Nebraska, New Mexico Voting Too

West Virginia Primary Holds Political Spotlight

By The Associated Press

In expected cloudy, cool weather with occasional rain, the voters will decide whether they prefer Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts or Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Nebraska and New Mexico also hold primaries. But neither will have the national impact of the one in West Virginia, where Humphrey and Kennedy completed a weeks-long, turbulent campaign Monday.

Nebraska, however, will affect the presidential race somewhat. It has a presidential preference ballot. But, although write-ins are allowed, the ballot lists only Kennedy.

New Mexico voters will keep away from presidential maneuvering and concern themselves with picking candidates for the jobs of governor, senator, congressmen, and state legislators.

Humphrey, who has been pointing a finger at the wealth of Kennedy, lectured labor leaders in Charleston.

"I have been trying to campaign in West Virginia with a shoestring cut in half," he said. "I haven't got one penny from labor in this state."

Kennedy, a Roman Catholic running in a state where few are of his faith, discussed religion at a news conference in Huntington.

"I can't believe that West Virginia, with its great tradition, is going to make its judgment on the basis of religion," he said.

"If people will look at the voting record, instead of clever advertising propaganda," said Humphrey, "they will see it is Kennedy, not I, who can't win for the Democrats in November."

Kennedy, who has often said that a vote for Humphrey is a vote thrown away, put it this way Monday: "If Mr. Humphrey wins (in West Virginia), the chances of somebody being nominated who doesn't understand the problem of West Virginia would be greatly enhanced."

Most opinion polls have predicted a victory for Humphrey, noting, however, that Kennedy has been closing the gap lately. The state's 25 delegates to the national convention will not be bound by the results.

In Nebraska, Kennedy's total will be compared to that received by Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee four years ago. At that time, Kefauver, like Kennedy today, was the only candidate listed on the ballot.

Kefauver received a 55,265 total or three out of every four Democratic votes. Adlai Stevenson had 3,185 write-ins.

In another political development, a New York Republican source said Monday night that Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller had been offered a top role at the Republican National Convention.

The source said that Republican State Chairman L. Judson Morhouse had been asked informally if the governor would be receptive to a post as keynoter, temporary chairman, or permanent chairman at the July convention in Chicago.

The governor could not be reached for comment.

Driver Fined For Collision

An East End motorist, cited for reckless driving as the aftermath of a 2-car crash early Sunday in the 1900 block on Dresden Ave. in which 5 people were hurt, drew the maximum penalty Monday afternoon in Municipal Court.

Jason C. Hyatt, 24, of 1701 Pennsylvania Ave. was fined $50 and costs and his driver's license was suspended for 30 days by Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff.

Hyatt had pleaded guilty when arraigned yesterday morning but sentencing was delayed until Judge Chertoff could secure additional information about the crash from Patrolman E. R. Ferguson.

Police said Hyatt admitted he was driving too fast for weather conditions, that he was left of center and his windshield wipers weren't working when he crashed into a car driven by Edwin E. Hemelrich of Garrettsville R. D. 2.

Miss Ila Goempel, 207 Haywood St., cited late Saturday afternoon for failing to stop in the assured clear distance after a collision on St. Clair Ave. at Morton St., drew a suspended $25 fine and costs. She had entered a "no contest" plea yesterday morning.

Pete Bello of Steubenville, cited by the State Highway Patrol on May 2 on a similar charge, was given a suspended fine of $10 and costs by Judge Chertoff.

Howard Kay Madison of Salineville R. D. 2, cited by the State Highway Patrol April 23 for speeding 80 miles an hour on Route 7, forfeited a $31 bond.

'Painless' Tuberculin Test Administered To Students

Use of a new "painless" tuberculin serum test on a large scale was inaugurated in Columbiana County for the first time with applications administered to 928 students at the Beaver Local High School and elementary school Monday.

Sponsored by the County Public Health League, the test program was administered to 616 elementary pupils and 321 students in grades 9 to 11 at the high school.

The test serum was applied by a new gun-like device which allows the liquid to seep through the skin, replacing the former longer needle method of the Mantaux test, health league officials pointed out.

Under the procedure, the skin area is cleansed with alcohol, the serum spread on the arm and the device, with six small needles, applied. Officials said there is no pain sensation connected with the application.

The test was administered under the direction of Miss Lillian Schroeder, secretary of the county league, with these nurses in charge: Mrs. Ann Lineberry, Mrs. Barbara Thompson and Mrs. Virginia Torrence of Beaver Local, Mrs. Ruth Gloss of New Waterford and Miss Sybil Degnan of Leetonia.

Five members of the Beaver Local High School Future Nurses chapter assisted. They were Vicky Windel, Judy Ebaugh, Sandy Pozenel, Sue Brooks and Karen Flemming.

Physicians will visit the schools May 12-13 to read the tests, according to George VanHorne, executive head. Swelling or redness of the area indicates a pupil may have been in contact with a person with tuberculosis and a chest X-ray and physical examination would be recommended. Such symptoms do not necessarily indicate the child has the disease, it was explained.

dangerous explanation" because he said it tries to justify and does not denounce such flights.

Washington awaited an official Soviet response—not propaganda utterances—to its note of last Friday asking for full facts from the Soviet inquiry into the incident.

Then the U.S. Embassy in Moscow was expected to follow up by asking to see Francis G. Powers, the downed American pilot who Khrushchev claims has confessed to a planned spy flight across the Soviet Union from Pakistan to Norway.

U.S. officials watched to see whether the Soviet boss would try to stir the incident to a crescendo—perhaps by a spectacular show such as a press conference with Powers or a public trial — and thus heighten tension to the point of wiping away chances for success at the summit parley.

Herter and Allen W. Dulles, head of the Central Intelligence Agency, reported to congressional leaders of both parties at a hurriedly called, secret briefing session Monday while Eisenhower was meeting with his top strategy group, the National Security Council.

He said the reason for the U.S. flights—though they clearly violate international law—is the menace of surprise attack from the Soviet Union.

Mason, agent in charge of the FBI in Cincinnati, said Brown told agents he was "conducting a survey of gambling and racketeering in the northern Kentucky area."

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: Frequently in your column you state that mail and diaries are inviolate and parents should respect the privacy of their children.

This sounds very high-minded but I wish now I had read my daughter's diary. I would have known where she was and what she was up to—instead of believing her lies.

Our daughter is 17. She was always the perfect child—obedient, polite and agreeable. When she came to us last June and told us she was four months pregnant we almost lost our minds.

"It isn't possible" we told ourselves. "She was always a model girl. How could this have happened?"

So please change your advice, Ann Landers. Tell parents not to take their children's word for anything. Warn them to check and recheck by reading diaries, letters—anything that will give them a clue. Listen to phone conversations and even follow them occasionally.

I wish now I had. Maybe we could have saved this girl from ruining her life.—TOO LATE.

Dear Too Late: It was later than you thought—a whole lot earlier than you realized.

If you think you can keep children on the straight and narrow by spying, following them and checking, Gestapo-style, you're wrong.

When parents must learn "what their daughter is up to" by eavesdropping and sneaking looks at her diary, it's already a lost cause. It means there's no communication and the parents have lost control.

The pattern for your daughter's behavior was set many years before she actually got into trouble. The private-eye approach would not have improved her behavior. It would only have made her more devious in her efforts to avoid being caught.

Unwanted Guest

Dear Ann: Should my husband go to his son's wedding without me? The invitation was addressed to him only, although we've been married almost eight years.

There is much bad feeling between his former wife and me.

I'm sure she's responsible for my being left out. I haven't said one word to my husband about how hurt I feel. He hasn't asked me to accompany him although I know he intends to go.

Do you feel it would be an insult to me if he went alone: Please give me the answers I need.—NOT ASKED.

Dear Not Asked: It has always been a mystery to me that people want to go where they have not been invited and are not wanted. You'd be about as welcome at this wedding as Nasser at a Passover dinner.

Get your husband's best suit ready, buy him a new tie and tell him to have a good time.

Sadist Complex

Dear Ann: This is no problem—it's more of a question. You seem to know all the answers so maybe you can come up with the answer to this one.

Why do some people want to be the first to tell bad news? I dread being in a position where I must tell people about tragedies or things that will make them sad. Yet I know many people who just love to pass on bad news. Why?—SIMPLE SIMON.

Dear Sir: Most people who take pleasure in passing on bad news simply enjoy being in the spotlight for the few moments it takes to tell it. During that brief interval they hold the center of the stage. Everybody listens.

There is often a trace of sadism, too, in people who enjoy shocking their friends with news of the tragic and the unfortunate.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Beaver County Valuation Up

BEAVER — The total assessed value of Beaver County's 78 subdivisions is $256,703,735, an increase of 7 per cent over 1959 and one of the largest increases in the county's history.

Underwood

Underwood admitted that West Virginia has been hard hit due to mechanization of its coal mines, but pointed out that the miners still at work receive higher pay than before. He also pointed out that the "largest concentration of the chemicals industry in the world" was in the Charleston area.

Underwood, in answering declarations that the Eisenhower administration had done little to help West Virginia, argued that the jobless in his state are recipients of surplus commodity food distribution with a value "three times that of Minnesota and Massachusetts" — home states of Humphrey and Kennedy.

"The jobless get just as hungry in those states as they do in West Virginia," Underwood said. "Kennedy and Humphrey have not been much concerned with the hungry in their own states.

"This shows their interest here is purely political."

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: Frequently in your column you state that mail and diaries are inviolate and parents should respect the privacy of their children.

This sounds very high-minded but I wish now I had read my daughter's diary. I would have known where she was and what she was up to—instead of believing her lies.

Our daughter is 17. She was always the perfect child—obedient, polite and agreeable. When she came to us last June and told us she was four months pregnant we almost lost our minds.

"It isn't possible" we told ourselves. "She was always a model girl. How could this have happened?"

So please change your advice, Ann Landers. Tell parents not to take their children's word for anything. Warn them to check and recheck by reading diaries, letters—anything that will give them a clue. Listen to phone conversations and even follow them occasionally.

I wish now I had. Maybe we could have saved this girl from ruining her life.—TOO LATE.

Dear Too Late: It was later than you thought—a whole lot earlier than you realized.

If you think you can keep children on the straight and narrow by spying, following them and checking, Gestapo-style, you're wrong.

When parents must learn "what their daughter is up to" by eavesdropping and sneaking looks at her diary, it's already a lost cause. It means there's no communication and the parents have lost control.

The pattern for your daughter's behavior was set many years before she actually got into trouble. The private-eye approach would not have improved her behavior. It would only have made her more devious in her efforts to avoid being caught.

Unwanted Guest

Dear Ann: Should my husband go to his son's wedding without me? The invitation was addressed to him only, although we've been married almost eight years.

There is much bad feeling between his former wife and me.

I'm sure she's responsible for my being left out. I haven't said one word to my husband about how hurt I feel. He hasn't asked me to accompany him although I know he intends to go.

Do you feel it would be an insult to me if he went alone: Please give me the answers I need.—NOT ASKED.

Dear Not Asked: It has always been a mystery to me that people want to go where they have not been invited and are not wanted. You'd be about as welcome at this wedding as Nasser at a Passover dinner.

Get your husband's best suit ready, buy him a new tie and tell him to have a good time.

Sadist Complex

Dear Ann: This is no problem—it's more of a question. You seem to know all the answers so maybe you can come up with the answer to this one.

Why do some people want to be the first to tell bad news? I dread being in a position where I must tell people about tragedies or things that will make them sad. Yet I know many people who just love to pass on bad news. Why?—SIMPLE SIMON.

Dear Sir: Most people who take pleasure in passing on bad news simply enjoy being in the spotlight for the few moments it takes to tell it. During that brief interval they hold the center of the stage. Everybody listens.

There is often a trace of sadism, too, in people who enjoy shocking their friends with news of the tragic and the unfortunate.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

The Midland July 4th committee was granted permission for public use of restrooms on the first floor of the high school, the use of the 7th St. playground for an evening street dance and the athletic field for a variety show, drill team exhibit and drum and bugle corps performance on the holiday.

Roach was elected board representative to the legislative council meeting of the Pennsylvania State School Directors Association Oct. 13 at 2 p. m., prior to opening of the association's convention that evening. The convention will run to Oct. 15 at the Sheraton Hotel in Philadelphia.

Underwood admitted that West Virginia has been hard hit due to mechanization of its coal mines, but pointed out that the miners still at work receive higher pay than before. He also pointed out that the "largest concentration of the chemicals industry in the world" was in the Charleston area.

Underwood, in answering declarations that the Eisenhower administration had done little to help West Virginia, argued that the jobless in his state are recipients of surplus commodity food distribution with a value "three times that of Minnesota and Massachusetts" — home states of Humphrey and Kennedy.

"The jobless get just as hungry in those states as they do in West Virginia," Underwood said. "Kennedy and Humphrey have not been much concerned with the hungry in their own states.

received any applications from Negroes since he was appointed chairman Nov. 16. Earlier records of the board, he said, were subpoenaed for a grand jury investigation and he has never seen them.

At Preston, Ga., Florrie H. McKinnon, clerk of Superior Court in Webster County, said a complete list of registered voters is always open to inspection in her office.

"I doubt if we've got a dozen Negroes in this county who could qualify to vote," she said. "It's been over two years since any Negroes applied to register." The Justice Department said there are 1,296 Negroes of voting age in the county.

The civil rights bill was signed into law by President Eisenhower only last Friday. Rogers went into action on the first business day thereafter. He said the move was a forerunner "of a widespread program of inspection of voting records in states where constitutional rights of citizens have been infringed by discriminatory practices."

150 Idle At Crucible Pittsburgh Division

PITTSBURGH—Some 150 workers remained away from their jobs today at the Spring Division of the Crucible Steel Co., in a dispute that began Monday over posted work schedules.

Nine maintenance men had been scheduled to work Tuesday through Saturday, and another 140 maintenance men Monday through Friday.

Local 1166 of the United Steelworkers contends overtime pay should go to employes working on Saturday.

The company said it retains the right to schedule employes Tuesday through Saturday without penalty of overtime pay.

The company added it scheduled Saturday work on a temporary basis to perform necessary work while equipment is down and accessible without interrupting production.

Beaver County Valuation Up

BEAVER — The total assessed value of Beaver County's 78 subdivisions is $256,703,735, an increase of 7 per cent over 1959 and one of the largest increases in the county's history.

Midland's total assessed value is $16,269,744, which is not much greater than 1959. The borough has exempt property of $1,381,165.

Zapsic said the increased valuation is expected to be a big aid to hard-pressed boroughs, townships and school districts.

The greatest percentage increase was in Koppel where the valuation shot up $970,000. The largest single increase was in Hopewell Township where residential building has been spiraling upward for several years. The township had an increas of approximately $1,600,000.

Out Of The Air

By MARIE TORRE

The Vice President, Unrehearsed

As a producer of note, David Susskind has endowed television with expansive shows and classic works and brilliant performers, but he's likely to be remembered in the future as the man who was responsible for the most prolonged view of Vice President Nixon in television memory. Two hours! Three hours!

Marie Torre

Like all other "Open End" gabfests on WNTA, there'll be no time limit on the Vice President's informal, unrehearsed appearance on the Susskind show next Sunday.

A formidable coup, indeed! More so when it's realized that the producer-moderator has lured the second citizen of the United States not with a network platform but a local show with no more than seven other outlets in the country.

HOW DID SUSSKIND do it?

It wasn't easy, he allows:

"It took almost two seasons to swing it! And I can't tell you how much correspondence! Last September, we renewed the request, but the matter of a crowded agenda precluded the possibility of a Nixon appearance at that time.

"We persisted. Finally we called on Nixon's assistant, James Shepley who, fortunately for us, happens to be a fan of our show. He thought that a free and uninhibited talk with Nixon was an excellent idea.

"Shepley told us he would recommend to the Vice President that he appear on the show. Soon after we were given a date."

IT'S COMMON knowledge that political figures do not savor TV interrogations without some idea of what's to be asked and discussed, but Nixon, according to Susskind, made no request to see the questions.

"His office has asked only one thing," said Susskind, "and that is that I refrain from discussing the summit conference. This is a matter of protocol.

"We will be doing the show on the eve of the summit conference, and Nixon thought he would be embarrassing to the President if he were to discuss matters that the President would be launching the following day.

"But that's the only condition that was made. What people will see Sunday will be completely off the cuff and live. We offered to take the session in Washington for the convenience of the Vice President. But he would have none of that. He chose to come to New York and do the show live."

TO SUSSKIND, the Nixon commitment is of personal as well as professional satisfaction. At least it'll be easier living with his friends," says Susskind, "of favoring the Democrats because of the Democrats who've been on the show — Adlai Stevenson, Hubert Humphrey and so forth.

"But this isn't true. The truth is, the Republicans have been less enthusiastic than the Democrats about accepting our invitations. I can't tell you how hard we've tried to get Tom Dewey and Gov. Rockefeller and Thruston Morton and some of the others."

Meanwhile, Susskind is "researching my fool head off" in preparation for the Nixon interview, reading books on the Vice President, his major speeches and official records.

But no other preparations are being made for the Vice President's appearance—not even new furnishings for the "Open End" set or a new chair for Nixon.

WITH THE NETWORK renewal of Rod Serling's "Twilight Zone" (excellent suspense) came a proposal for the services of Orson Welles as weekly host. Objective: Box office bait! . . .

There's a report, sad but true, that the amount of live television next season will reach an all-time low of 13 per cent of the programs in prime time hours. Aside from specials, not one new live series has been posted on the fall agenda. . . .

Critical bleats notwithstanding, the TV industry still is devoted to sagebrush saga. Twenty-one per cent of next season's programming in the evening hours will be of a Western nature.

U.S. Approves Pill Safe For Birth Control

WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal government for the first time has approved a pill as safe for birth control.

G. D. Searle and Co. of Chicago, the maker of the contraceptive pill, said it was 100 per cent effective in a four-year test involving 1,500 women in Puerto Rico, Los Angeles, San Antonio, Tex., Boston and Japan.

To avoid pregnancy a woman must take 20 pills a month. The cost would be between $10 and $11 a month. It can be sold only on a doctor's prescription.

The pill, called Enovid, was approved Monday by the Food and Drug Administration.

"Approval was based on the question of safety, said Associate Commissioner John L. Harvey. "We had no choice as to the morality that might be involved. When the data convinced our experts that the drug meets the requirements of the new drug provisions our own ideas of morality had nothing to do with the case."

The drug has been on the market for several years, but previous clearance was for its use in the treatment of female disorders.

Church Burglarized

CINCINNATI (AP) — Burglars took a safe from St. Paul Methodist Church early Monday, pried it open with crowbars and took the contents—the Sunday collection—police reported. Church officials estimated the loss at $1,000 in cash and checks.

Contract Let For Wellsville Stadium Work

The Wellsville Board of Education Monday night awarded a $4,960 contract to the Potters Construction Co. for the first phase of building new shower and dressing rooms at Nicholson Stadium for the football teams.

The contract calls for the excavation under the lower section of the stadium, the installation of a concrete floor and erecting partitions. It doesn't cover the plumbing, electric wiring or lighting fixtures.

The plans call for two dressing rooms, two shower rooms, a coaches and officials room, storage space and toilet rooms. Space also will be provided for drying racks. The size of the two dressing rooms is dependent on where the coaches rooms are to be located.

The present dressing rooms are located under the center section of the stadium. The section leaks and the dressing rooms are always damp. The concrete in the section is crumbling and it has been closed off to fans.

One proposal is to fill the center section underneath with dirt after the new rooms are constructed.

The board also made plans for erecting a new fence around the field. Several months ago large sections of sheet metal were purchased from the Ohio Edison Co. plant at Stratton. The sheets will be used in the fence.

In other business, the board accepted the resignation of Mrs. Jennie Calhoun, school nurse, with "regret and the best wishes of the board for continued health and happiness." Mrs. Calhoun's resignation is effective July 1. She has served the system about 25 years.

The board went on record as thanking City Council for erecting school crossing warning signs around town, especially on Clark Ave.

The board authorized Raymond S. Rolley, clerk, to borrow $15,000 to meet this month's payroll if the state foundation program check does not arrive on time.

The names of 102 students were approved for graduation. Baccalaureate will be Sunday, May 29, and commencement is May 31.

Supt. S. E. Daw reported he is conducting a study on the need for special classes in the upper grades. He said it would be ideal if two special classes could be conducted. At present one such class is conducted for children in the lower elementary grades.

Daw said he "leans in favor of the younger children." He said he will make a recommendation at the next board meeting.

He also reported that eighth grade class from the Fairview area will attend Daw Junior High School next year. This will make a total of five eighth grade sections.

He said it is unknown if the sixth graders at the Immaculate Conception Parochial School will enter seventh at Daw school next term. He said he will give further reports on the enrollment situation when the schedules are completed.

The board approved extra work time for James Ferry, Daw Junior High principal, to make up the seventh and eighth grade schedules for next year.

3rd Polio Shot Given Students In 2 Schools

A team of nurses and Health Department officials administered the third polio shot this morning to students at the high school and Westgate School to wind up the two-day program.

The team administered the shot to 354 students in public and parochial schools yesterday, Dr. E. G. Kuhlman, health commissioner, said.

The third shot came after the seven-month wait since the second shot was given last October. The first shot was administered in September.

Children who were absent when the third shot was given may receive it at 9 a. m. Wednesday at the department's second floor office in City Hall, Dr. Kuhlman said.

Total collections since last July 1 are $1,527,484 as compared to $1,476,945 from July 1, 1958, to April 25, 1959, Ferguson said.

Constables' Chief Named

John Jackson of Sub-station, police constable for St. Clair Township, was appointed temporary chief of the constables in the township at a meeting of St. Clair trustees Monday night.

Jackson, employe of Crucible Steel Co., will head the police program temporarily while trustees study plans for a paid police program. Harry Skelton and Clarence Blosser are the other police constables.

A levy for police protection may be submitted to voters in the November election, trustees said.

In other business, the trustees received requests for road work from Woodrow Beddingfield of Cornell Ave. and Peter Henderson of Sprucevale Rd.

Alfred Fricano requested opening of Purinton Ave. to St. Clair Ave. Requests for road oiling were received from residents of Moore St. and Echo Dell Rd.

New Translator Converts Russian Into English

WASHINGTON (P) — An electronic translator capable of converting Russian into English at the rate of 35 words a second has been developed by the Air Force, Rep. Overton Brooks (D-La) said today.

Brooks is chairman of the House Science and Astronautics Committee which has scheduled hearings starting Wednesday on mechanical translation devices.

"The translation is done at very high speeds," Brooks said, "16,000 words a minute being scanned by the translator. It can be operated by an individual with no knowledge of Russian and is able to translate a page of Russian into English in half a minute, compared to 45 minutes required by the average human translator."

Brooks said the machine will make available to American scientists and engineers more of the estimated billion words a year which the Soviets publish, one-third of which is in scientific fields. At present, he said, the U.S. government translates 80 million words a year at an average cost of two cents a word.

The Vice President, Unrehearsed

As a producer of note, David Susskind has endowed television with expansive shows and classic works and brilliant performers, but he's likely to be remembered in the future as the man who was responsible for the most prolonged view of Vice President Nixon in television memory. Two hours! Three hours!

Marie Torre

Like all other "Open End" gabfests on WNTA, there'll be no time limit on the Vice President's informal, unrehearsed appearance on the Susskind show next Sunday.

A formidable coup, indeed! More so when it's realized that the producer-moderator has lured the second citizen of the United States not with a network platform but a local show with no more than seven other outlets in the country.

HOW DID SUSSKIND do it? It wasn't easy, he allows:

"It took almost two seasons to swing it! And I can't tell you how much correspondence! Last September, we renewed the request, but the matter of a crowded agenda precluded the possibility of a Nixon appearance at that time.

"We persisted. Finally we called on Nixon's assistant, James Shepley who, fortunately for us, happens to be a fan of our show. He thought that a free and uninhibited talk with Nixon was an excellent idea.

"Shepley told us he would recommend to the Vice President that he appear on the show. Soon after we were given a date."

IT'S COMMON knowledge that political figures do not savor TV interrogations without some idea of what's to be asked and discussed, but Nixon, according to Susskind, made no request to see the questions.

"His office has asked only one thing," said Susskind, "and that is that I refrain from discussing the summit conference. This is a matter of protocol.

"We will be doing the show on the eve of the summit conference, and Nixon thought he would be embarrassing to the President if he were to discuss matters that the President would be launching the following day.

"But that's the only condition that was made. What people will see Sunday will be completely off the cuff and live. We offered to take the session in Washington for the convenience of the Vice President. But he would have none of that. He chose to come to New York and do the show live."

TO SUSSKIND, the Nixon commitment is of personal as well as professional satisfaction. At least it'll be easier living with his friends," says Susskind, "of favoring the Democrats because of the Democrats who've been on the show — Adlai Stevenson, Hubert Humphrey and so forth.

"But this isn't true. The truth is, the Republicans have been less enthusiastic than the Democrats about accepting our invitations. I can't tell you how hard we've tried to get Tom Dewey and Gov. Rockefeller and Thruston Morton and some of the others."

Meanwhile, Susskind is "researching my fool head off" in preparation for the Nixon interview, reading books on the Vice President, his major speeches and official records.

But no other preparations are being made for the Vice President's appearance—not even new furnishings for the "Open End" set or a new chair for Nixon.

WITH THE NETWORK renewal of Rod Serling's "Twilight Zone" (excellent suspense) came a proposal for the services of Orson Welles as weekly host. Objective: Box office bait! . . .

There's a report, sad but true, that the amount of live television next season will reach an all-time low of 13 per cent of the programs in prime time hours. Aside from specials, not one new live series has been posted on the fall agenda. . . .

Critical bleats notwithstanding, the TV industry still is devoted to sagebrush saga. Twenty-one per cent of next season's programming in the evening hours will be of a Western nature.

U.S. Approves Pill Safe For Birth Control

WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal government for the first time has approved a pill as safe for birth control.

G. D. Searle and Co. of Chicago, the maker of the contraceptive pill, said it was 100 per cent effective in a four-year test involving 1,500 women in Puerto Rico, Los Angeles, San Antonio, Tex., Boston and Japan.

To avoid pregnancy a woman must take 20 pills a month. The cost would be between $10 and $11 a month. It can be sold only on a doctor's prescription.

The pill, called Enovid, was approved Monday by the Food and Drug Administration.

"Approval was based on the question of safety, said Associate Commissioner John L. Harvey. "We had no choice as to the morality that might be involved. When the data convinced our experts that the drug meets the requirements of the new drug provisions our own ideas of morality had nothing to do with the case."

The drug has been on the market for several years, but previous clearance was for its use in the treatment of female disorders.

Church Burglarized

CINCINNATI (AP) — Burglars took a safe from St. Paul Methodist Church early Monday, pried it open with crowbars and took the contents—the Sunday collection—police reported. Church officials estimated the loss at $1,000 in cash and checks.

Contract Let For Wellsville Stadium Work

The Wellsville Board of Education Monday night awarded a $4,960 contract to the Potters Construction Co. for the first phase of building new shower and dressing rooms at Nicholson Stadium for the football teams.

The contract calls for the excavation under the lower section of the stadium, the installation of a concrete floor and erecting partitions. It doesn't cover the plumbing, electric wiring or lighting fixtures.

The plans call for two dressing rooms, two shower rooms, a coaches and officials room, storage space and toilet rooms. Space also will be provided for drying racks. The size of the two dressing rooms is dependent on where the coaches rooms are to be located.

The present dressing rooms are located under the center section of the stadium. The section leaks and the dressing rooms are always damp. The concrete in the section is crumbling and it has been closed off to fans.

One proposal is to fill the center section underneath with dirt after the new rooms are constructed.

The board also made plans for erecting a new fence around the field. Several months ago large sections of sheet metal were purchased from the Ohio Edison Co. plant at Stratton. The sheets will be used in the fence.

In other business, the board accepted the resignation of Mrs. Jennie Calhoun, school nurse, with "regret and the best wishes of the board for continued health and happiness." Mrs. Calhoun's resignation is effective July 1. She has served the system about 25 years.

The board went on record as thanking City Council for erecting school crossing warning signs around town, especially on Clark Ave.

The board authorized Raymond S. Rolley, clerk, to borrow $15,000 to meet this month's payroll if the state foundation program check does not arrive on time.

The names of 102 students were approved for graduation. Baccalaureate will be Sunday, May 29, and commencement is May 31.

Supt. S. E. Daw reported he is conducting a study on the need for special classes in the upper grades. He said it would be ideal if two special classes could be conducted. At present one such class is conducted for children in the lower elementary grades.

Daw said he "leans in favor of the younger children." He said he will make a recommendation at the next board meeting.

He also reported that eighth grade class from the Fairview area will attend Daw Junior High School next year. This will make a total of five eighth grade sections.

He said it is unknown if the sixth graders at the Immaculate Conception Parochial School will enter seventh at Daw school next term. He said he will give further reports on the enrollment situation when the schedules are completed.

The board approved extra work time for James Ferry, Daw Junior High principal, to make up the seventh and eighth grade schedules for next year.

3rd Polio Shot Given Students In 2 Schools

A team of nurses and Health Department officials administered the third polio shot this morning to students at the high school and Westgate School to wind up the two-day program.

The team administered the shot to 354 students in public and parochial schools yesterday, Dr. E. G. Kuhlman, health commissioner, said.

The third shot came after the seven-month wait since the second shot was given last October. The first shot was administered in September.

Children who were absent when the third shot was given may receive it at 9 a. m. Wednesday at the department's second floor office in City Hall, Dr. Kuhlman said.

Sales Tax Receipts Show Slight Decline

Sales tax collections in Columbiana County for the week ending April 23 totaled $34,162, including $13,634 on the sale of motor vehicles, State Treasurer Joseph T. Ferguson said today.

The total is approximately $600 behind the $34,715 collected in a corresponding week in 1959, he said.

New Translator Converts Russian Into English

WASHINGTON (P) — An electronic translator capable of converting Russian into English at the rate of 35 words a second has been developed by the Air Force, Rep. Overton Brooks (D-La) said today.

Brooks is chairman of the House Science and Astronautics Committee which has scheduled hearings starting Wednesday on mechanical translation devices.

"The translation is done at very high speeds," Brooks said, "16,000 words a minute being scanned by the translator. It can be operated by an individual with no knowledge of Russian and is able to translate a page of Russian into English in half a minute, compared to 45 minutes required by the average human translator."

Brooks said the machine will make available to American scientists and engineers more of the estimated billion words a year which the Soviets publish, one-third of which is in scientific fields. At present, he said, the U.S. government translates 80 million words a year at an average cost of two cents a word.

Errors, Homer Cost Bucs 7-4 Loss

Dodgers Hand Pirates 4th Loss In Row

By The Associated Press

Pittsburgh's stumbling, fumbling Pirates dropped their fourth in a row Monday night giving up a pair of unearned runs and losing 7-4 at Los Angeles as Charlie Neal slugged a three-run homer in the ninth that tagged the once unbeatable Elroy Face with his third defeat.

The Bucs now are 1½ games behind idle, first place San Francisco and only one game ahead of Milwaukee's third place Braves, who were rained out at Chicago in the only other NL game scheduled.

Rain also halved a two-game schedule in the American League. Right-hander Camilio Pascual itched his second three-hit victory as Washington clubbed Kansas City 8-1. The Cleveland at Boston game was postponed.

The Pirates were shutout on one hit for seven innings by Don Drysdale. The Dodgers' ace right-hander struck out 13, but gave up two-run homers by Bill Mazeroski and Bob Skinner in the eighth and ninth before reliever Larry Sherry took over.

Sherry came in with the tie-breaking run on first, struck out Don Hoak and then retired Gino Cimoli on a grounder to end the Buc rally. Neal's second home run of the season, following a single by Maury Wills and an intentional walk to Junior Gilliam, got the job done.

It was Sherry's third straight victory in relief.

Pascual (2-3) struck out 11 and gave up nothing but singles while putting away the fifth three-hitter of his career for Washington. He lost a shutout in the third when the As scored an unearned run on the first of two hits by Dick Williams, a passed ball and a two-out error by shortstop Billy Consolo. Williams got the As second hit in the eighth. Jerry Lumpe got the other in the ninth.

The Senators beat Ray Herbert (2-1) with three runs in the first on two walks and singles by Don Dobbek, Earl Battey and Reno Bertoia. Jim Lemon added his sixth home run, tying Cleveland's Woodie Held for the AL lead, and Bob Allison socked his second in the eighth.

Rain Postpones Track, Golf Meets Today

Rain has postponed a track meet between East Liverpool and United which was scheduled today at Patterson Field. A triangular golf match involving East Liverpool, Beaver Local and Steubenville Central has also been postponed.

Tom Hennessy Wins In ABC

TOLEDO, Ohio. (AP) —Despite his modest 193 average, for two matches Monday, former champion Tom Hennessy managed to be among the eight bowlers who remained undefeated from an original finals field of 64 in the American Bowling Congress Masters Tournament.

The St. Louis star made a flashy debut in the finals Sunday night when he crushed Joe Kristof of Chicago 891 to 824 in their four-game skirmish. He won his second match Monday with Al Thompson of Cleveland 777 to 751 and made it three straight late in the day as he slipped past Detroit's Pete Carter 774 to 747.

Kristof was evicted from the double elimination tournament despite a 210 average. After his loss to Hennessy, Kristof came off on the short end of 903-860 duel with Ed Lubasnki of Detroit.

By the end of Monday's action seven bowlers posted untarnished records:

Well-known bowlers eliminated Monday included two-time Masters champion Dick Hoover, Pat Patterson, and Dick Weber of St. Louis; Buddy Bomar and Carmen Salvino of Chicago and Ed Lubanski and Bob Kwolek of Detroit.

The Masters will end Wednesday night.

Paul Pilgram of Greensville, Pa., tied for eighth place in the singles with a 702 for the only change in the top standings in regular ABC play. The 29-year-old farmer, who had never shot better than 619 in eight years of bowling, rolled games of 231, 255 and 216.

Two Port Clinton, Ohio, men—Dick Selgo and Joe Drusbacky—were still in the Masters with one defeat each. Kowalics defeated Selgo 773-716, and Sak edged Drusbacky 832-860.

East Palestine And Salem Favored In 57th Annual County Meet Friday

The 57th running of the Columbiana County track and field meet is set for Friday night at East Palestine.

The meet, oldest high school track and field event in Ohio, stacks up again as a two-team race between Salem and East Palestine.

Probably the only other team with an outside chance is East Liverpool, which enters the meet undefeated in three dual tests.

The shot put event at 2 p. m. Friday will open the day-long schedule. Preliminaries and finals in the shot put and discus throw will be held in the afternoon, along with preliminaries in the hurdles, high jump, pole vault, broad jump and dashes.

Salem has the distinction of winning more county titles than any other team. The Quakers have 22 to their credit.

East Palestine, which has entered the meet every year but one, has never finished worse than third.

Besides, East Palestine, Salem and East Liverpool are Wellsville, Beaver Local, Leetonia, Columbiana, Lisbon, United and Fairfield-Waterford.

Ward said Salineville may enter a team, but he won't know until later in the week.

Seven teams will compete for the "AA" title, while Fairfield-Waterford, Leetonia and Salineville would vie for the "A" crown.

East Palestine has three standouts who have been sparking the Bulldogs throughout the spring.

Dick Libert will be entered in the pole vault, broad jump and high jump, while Chuck Robinson, the all-state football player, will handle the shot put and discus.

East Liverpool will be pinning its hopes on Bob Mackall, who as a junior last year was the high point man in the county meet.

Mackall was clocked in 10 flat in the 100-yard dash earlier this spring and will be entered in the 220-yard dash, broad jump and as anchor man on the 880-yard relay team.

Bob Christen, who has turned in some good times in the 120-yard high hurdles and the 180-yard lows, is Coach Bob Hedmond's other big threat. Mike Komo is undefeated in dual meet mile competition.

Bob Kiggans, Wellsville's high jumping star, may be the one to beat in that event.

Beaver Local should score with its star Mike Durbin, who has been the mainstay for the Beavers this season. Only a junior, Durbin has scored consistently in the dashes, high jump and broad jump.

Nicklaus Paces Buckeyes To College Golf Crown

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Take a guy like 20-year-old Jackie Nicklaus, national amateur golf champion, put him on the Ohio State team, and what do you get?

A victory for Nicklaus in Monday's Ohio Intercollegiate Golf Tournament, and team laurels for Ohio State.

The Buckeye sophomore from Columbus, shooting three birdies and two bogeys, fashioned a 71 over the rain-swept 6,700-yard par 72 Ohio State course to take individual honors.

Then, too, the original format called for six competitors from each school, with the four low scores counting in the team race. But in the abbreviated play, the top five scores were counted.

Ohio U. 400, Kent State 411, Cincinnati 413, John Carroll 418, Bowling Green and Miami 419, Youngstown 422, Ohio Wesleyan 424, Denison and Wittenberg 425, Wooster 430, Mount Union 432, Oberlin 433, Dayton 434, Akron 437, Heidelberg 444, Ohio Northern 459, Ashland 465, and Bluffton 480.

Nicklaus had two birdies and one bogey on the front nine and parred the first seven coming home. He three-putted the 17th, but he got the stroke back with a birdie on the 18th.

Following Death In Ring

Wisconsin Drops Boxing

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Intercollegiate boxing suffered what may turn out to be a knockout blow when it was dropped Monday by the University of Wisconsin, long a leader and often a champion in the sport.

The Badgers were voted out of competition by the Wisconsin faculty less than a month after the death of Wisconsin boxer Charles Mohr of a brain injury suffered in a bout.

Wisconsin had been the last major school outside of the Pacific Coast area still in the sport. Agitation for complete abolition of intercollegiate boxing increased after Mohr's death and probably will gain more strength from the Wisconsin decision.

Wisconsin boxing coach Vern Woodward quickly defended the sport, saying, "I'm terribly disappointed in the reaction of the faculty. I think the members acted too soon after the unfortunate and tragic death of Mohr and that their reaction was too emotional." The vote came after only 20 minutes of discussion.

Woodward also said he was disappointed because he wasn't given a chance to be heard.

Badger Athletic Director Ivy Williamson said the faculty left the way open to continue intramural boxing, but he said it probably would be on a reduced scale.

The 22-year-old Mohr, of Merrick, N.Y., was hurt April 9 in the National Collegiate Athletic Assn. tournament at Wisconsin. He was defending his 165-pound crown in a title bout with Stu Bartell of San Jose (Calif) State.

Errors, Homer Cost Bucs 7-4 Loss

Dodgers Hand Pirates 4th Loss In Row

By The Associated Press

Pittsburgh's stumbling, fumbling Pirates dropped their fourth in a row Monday night giving up a pair of unearned runs and losing 7-4 at Los Angeles as Charlie Neal slugged a three-run homer in the ninth that tagged the once unbeatable Elroy Face with his third defeat.

The Bucs now are 1½ games behind idle, first place San Francisco and only one game ahead of Milwaukee's third place Braves, who were rained out at Chicago in the only other NL game scheduled.

Rain also halved a two-game schedule in the American League. Right-hander Camilio Pascual itched his second three-hit victory as Washington clubbed Kansas City 8-1. The Cleveland at Boston game was postponed.

The Pirates were shutout on one hit for seven innings by Don Drysdale. The Dodgers' ace right-hander struck out 13, but gave up two-run homers by Bill Mazeroski and Bob Skinner in the eighth and ninth before reliever Larry Sherry took over.

Sherry came in with the tie-breaking run on first, struck out Don Hoak and then retired Gino Cimoli on a grounder to end the Buc rally. Neal's second home run of the season, following a single by Maury Wills and an intentional walk to Junior Gilliam, got the job done.

It was Sherry's third straight victory in relief.

Pascual (2-3) struck out 11 and gave up nothing but singles while putting away the fifth three-hitter of his career for Washington. He lost a shutout in the third when the As scored an unearned run on the first of two hits by Dick Williams, a passed ball and a two-out error by shortstop Billy Consolo. Williams got the As second hit in the eighth. Jerry Lumpe got the other in the ninth.

The Senators beat Ray Herbert (2-1) with three runs in the first on two walks and singles by Don Dobbek, Earl Battey and Reno Bertoia. Jim Lemon added his sixth home run, tying Cleveland's Woodie Held for the AL lead, and Bob Allison socked his second in the eighth.

TOLEDO, Ohio. (AP) —Despite his modest 193 average, for two matches Monday, former champion Tom Hennessy managed to be among the eight bowlers who remained undefeated from an original finals field of 64 in the American Bowling Congress Masters Tournament.

The Bobcats also finished second in the individual race as Bob Bryant, a senior, fired a 74.

Ohio U. 400, Kent State 411, Cincinnati 413, John Carroll 418, Bowling Green and Miami 419, Youngstown 422, Ohio Wesleyan 424, Denison and Wittenberg 425, Wooster 430, Mount Union 432, Oberlin 433, Dayton 434, Akron 437, Heidelberg 444, Ohio Northern 459, Ashland 465, and Bluffton 480.

Nicklaus had two birdies and one bogey on the front nine and parred the first seven coming home. He three-putted the 17th, but he got the stroke back with a birdie on the 18th.

Following Death In Ring

Wisconsin Drops Boxing

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Intercollegiate boxing suffered what may turn out to be a knockout blow when it was dropped Monday by the University of Wisconsin, long a leader and often a champion in the sport.

The Badgers were voted out of competition by the Wisconsin faculty less than a month after the death of Wisconsin boxer Charles Mohr of a brain injury suffered in a bout.

Wisconsin had been the last major school outside of the Pacific Coast area still in the sport. Agitation for complete abolition of intercollegiate boxing increased after Mohr's death and probably will gain more strength from the Wisconsin decision.

The departure of the Badgers from the ring also means the end of intersectional action which helped maintained interest.

Wisconsin boxing coach Vern Woodward quickly defended the sport, saying, "I'm terribly disappointed in the reaction of the faculty. I think the members acted too soon after the unfortunate and tragic death of Mohr and that their reaction was too emotional." The vote came after only 20 minutes of discussion.

Woodward also said he was disappointed because he wasn't given a chance to be heard.

Badger Athletic Director Ivy Williamson said the faculty left the way open to continue intramural boxing, but he said it probably would be on a reduced scale.

The 22-year-old Mohr, of Merrick, N.Y., was hurt April 9 in the National Collegiate Athletic Assn. tournament at Wisconsin. He was defending his 165-pound crown in a title bout with Stu Bartell of San Jose (Calif) State.

Foreign Pros Invading U.S. Tennis Courts

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.

So says South Africa's Harold Henning, a determined follower of the path trodden by his countrymen Bobby Locke and Gary Player and by Australia's Peter Thomson on the U.S. professional golf circuit.

Henning is one of nearly a dozen foreign pros to hit the American tournaments this year, a survey revealed today. Its the biggest invasion in recent memory and with a few exception the visitors are looking for experience more than cash.

In addition to Player and Henning, South Africa has sent Bob Retief Waltan, Denis Hutchinson and Bryan Roelofz. Thomson, who pioneered the international tour back in 1951, delayed his American debut this year. But Australian veteran Kel Nagle has been here for some time, Norm Von Nida was a visitor for a while and Bruce Crampton and Len Woodward were more recent arrivals from Australia.

Toss in England's Harry Weetman, who made the winter tour, and three or four frequent visitors from Canada and it makes a sizeable delegation.

It was Locke, of course, who showed the way when he earned more than $24,000 on the American tour in 1947. Thomson didn't get much but experience on his first few visits here, but after a few brushes with the tough American competition, he went on to win the British Open four times.

Orioles Seek Catcher To Replace Triandos

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Baltimore Orioles apparently have run up against some blank walls in their search for a catcher to replace disabled Gus Triandos.

Macphail reported that he has contacted "six or eight" big league clubs in an effort to acquire a right-handed-hitting receiver to replace Triandos.

Big Gus, who will be lost to the Birds for at least a month, is scheduled to undergo surgery Wednesday for relief from pressure on a nerve in the inner side of his right thumb.

PHILADELPHIA (AP) —Eddie Sawyer, who resigned as manager of the Philadelphia Phillies after one game this year, says he has had some offers from baseball. But he did not elaborate.

Sawyer, contacted at his nearby Wayne home Monday, said he hadn't made up his mind about future plans.

"It probably will be next week before I decide," he added.

Johansson Looks Sharp, Sparring Partners Claim

No longer is Johansson the easy-going, take-it-slow fighter that he was the last time he showed up here just a year ago. Then, he showed so little that some folks feared for his life against champion Floyd Patterson.

"I never saw him so fast," exclaimed Artie Towne of New York, one of his sparring partners. "Those rights, they were coming very fast."

Both Towne and Will Johnson went two rounds with the champion and both took dozens of sizzling rights to the head.

"Johansson was a flat-footed boxer when I stepped into the ring against him for the first time last year," observed Towne. "He's a changed man now."

While he didn't cut loose with the full force of his blows in his first sparring session, Johansson left no doubt as to how he intends to operate against Patterson in their return on June 20 at New York's Polo Grounds.

Kasko Wasn't Kidding About Playing Steady

CHICAGO (AP) — Eddie Kasko told the Cincinnati Reds he needed a steady playing job to hit well. He showed 'em, too.

Now that he's a fixture at third base, he's batting .317 with 14 RBI and three homers.

"There aren't many guys," he said, "who can get off the bench once a week and hit consistently. If I play regularly, I'll hit."

The 28-year-old third sacker has rattled around the league, rated a utility infielder. It looks as if that was too tame a tag.

Manager Fred Hutchinson knew Kasko from previous years at St. Louis and when Hutch took over last season he gave Eddie increasing duty.

"The final two months of last season he was the best all-around shortstop in the league," said Hutch.

U.S. Jet Downed Over Russia Termed High-Altitude Craft

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U2 jet which was shot down by the Russians last week is considered a high-altitude aircraft with a top speed of less than 500 miles per hour.

Until recently the plane had been considered secret. In fact it was not until 1957 that the Defense Department admitted the plane was even being used.

The jet, powered by a single Pratt & Whitney engine, originally was used as an experimental plane by an aviation manufacturing company, but was later given a secret assignment.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration (then existing as the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics) contracted with Lockheed Aircraft Corp. in 1956 to provide U2s and pilots to fly them. The Air Force agreed to provide facilities at USAF weather service bases overseas for operating the planes.

Last Thursday, after Russia had announced the downing of a U2, NASA said it had acquired 10 of the planes for use as what it called "flying weather laboratories." Since 1956, these planes have operated from bases in California, New York, Alaska, England, Germany, Turkey, Pakistan, Japan, Okinawa and the Philippines, NASA said.

In the fall of 1959 a NASA U2 made an emergency landing on a Japanese airfield. Questions were raised in the Japanese press about the mission of the long-winged, high-flying jet. The explanation given previously was used to answer questions: The U2 was used for high altitude study of winds, turbulence, air mass movements and other factors involved in aviation weather forecasting.

Ground Broken For Church, And Then They Struck It Rich

The site of the Glengrove Assembly of God congregation's new church, it turned out, was a five-acre grove of buried treasure—almost $5,000.

It started last February when a bulldozer blade tipped over an old orange tree, and uprooted a mason jar. Three children following the bulldozer pounced on it.

The congregation then held an impromptu treasure hunt—and, in two days, found eight jars containing $850.

The church, it seems, can lay claim to the $850 found by members of the congregation. And the other finders, including the children's parents, are claiming the remainder, neither the children nor their parents are members of the church.

"The daughter of the previous owner of the land also has claimed it," said Jensen. "She says it was buried by her father."

The sheriff's office has advised all claimants who hold money found in the lot to do just that—hold it. The congregation's $850, earmarked for the building fund, is in a safe deposit box.

Cutback Plans Heard To Offset School Deficit

WILLOUGHBY, Ohio (AP)—The Willoughby-Eastlake Board of Education heard proposals Monday night on cutbacks in operation to offset an expected $371,291 deficit for the 1960-61 school year. The deficit would result from defeat of a proposed additional 4.8 mill operating levy at the primary election last Tuesday, according to Supt. J. B. Woodside.

The superintendent proposed dropping 46 teachers and cutting the administrative staff, discontinuing junior high interscholastic events and making pupils buy many supplies now furnished by the schools.

Americanism medals for the outstanding boy and girl of the eighth grade are to be presented to the pupils selected by the junior high school faculty, it was announced.

Tickets are now available to members for a baseball game between Pittsburgh and San Francisco May 20. A social meeting will be held Friday night at the post home.

Warren Jones, first vice commander, was in charge.

Tompion Will Miss Preakness On May 21

LOUISVILLE, (AP) — Tompion, the horse that was favored in the Kentucky Derby, will miss the Preakness May 21 because of a hoof injury.

$493 Expense Reported In Commissioner Race

Three more candidates at the May 3 primaries have filed sworn expense statements with the County Election Board.

Robert L. Faulkner of Leetonia R. D. 1 reported receipts of $75.20 and expenditures of $493.90 in his unsuccessful bid for the Democratic nomination for county commissioner.

Robert W. Sample Jr. of East Liverpool, who lost his bid for the Republican nomination for county recorder, said he spent $67.59.

3 Autos Damaged In 2 City Mishaps

Three autos were damaged in two minor traffic mishaps in East Liverpool Monday, police reported. Both were at intersections.

A collision at Lincoln Ave. and E. 9th St. at 12:05 p. m. damaged a 1959 station wagon operated by JoAnn Welch, 32, of R. D. 2 and a 1956 two-door sedan driven by Eric C. Flaherty, 33, of 804 Spring Grove Ave., police said.

The woman driver said she was making a left turn from Lincoln onto E. 9th, but cut the corner too short and hit Flaherty's auto, which was halted on E. 9th. The crash damaged the left front fender and grill of each auto, police said.

A crash at W. 5th St. and Cherry Alley at 10 a. m. involved a 1958 sedan driven by James E. Fox, 52, of 1040 Pan Ave., Chester, and a 1952 two-door sedan operated by George G. Wines, 65, of 2009 Chester Ave., Wellsville, officers said.

Fox was making a left turn from the alley onto the main thoroughfare and Wines was driving west on W. 5th, police said. The right front door of the Fox car was damaged, police said. Patrolman W. A. Devon investigated both crashes.

He showed he could do the right thing in the field and he batted .282.

"There aren't many guys," he said, "who can get off the bench once a week and hit consistently. If I play regularly, I'll hit."

The 28-year-old third sacker has rattled around the league, rated a utility infielder. It looks as if that was too tame a tag.

Manager Fred Hutchinson knew Kasko from previous years at St. Louis and when Hutch took over last season he gave Eddie increasing duty.

"The final two months of last season he was the best all-around shortstop in the league," said Hutch.

Improved pitching has helped, but the Reds' big guns at bat last year—like Frank Robinson and Vada Pinson—haven't hit so well.

U.S. Jet Downed Over Russia Termed High-Altitude Craft

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U2 jet which was shot down by the Russians last week is considered a high-altitude aircraft with a top speed of less than 500 miles per hour.

Until recently the plane had been considered secret. In fact it was not until 1957 that the Defense Department admitted the plane was even being used.

The jet, powered by a single Pratt & Whitney engine, originally was used as an experimental plane by an aviation manufacturing company, but was later given a secret assignment.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration (then existing as the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics) contracted with Lockheed Aircraft Corp. in 1956 to provide U2s and pilots to fly them. The Air Force agreed to provide facilities at USAF weather service bases overseas for operating the planes.

Last Thursday, after Russia had announced the downing of a U2, NASA said it had acquired 10 of the planes for use as what it called "flying weather laboratories." Since 1956, these planes have operated from bases in California, New York, Alaska, England, Germany, Turkey, Pakistan, Japan, Okinawa and the Philippines, NASA said.

In the fall of 1959 a NASA U2 made an emergency landing on a Japanese airfield. Questions were raised in the Japanese press about the mission of the long-winged, high-flying jet. The explanation given previously was used to answer questions: The U2 was used for high altitude study of winds, turbulence, air mass movements and other factors involved in aviation weather forecasting.

Ground Broken For Church, And Then They Struck It Rich

The site of the Glengrove Assembly of God congregation's new church, it turned out, was a five-acre grove of buried treasure—almost $5,000.

It started last February when a bulldozer blade tipped over an old orange tree, and uprooted a mason jar. Three children following the bulldozer pounced on it.

Inside was $3,840 in currency and coin.

The congregation then held an impromptu treasure hunt—and, in two days, found eight jars containing $850.

"Now," said Arthur Jensen, secretary of the congregation, "we're just waiting to find out if we can keep it."

The church, it seems, can lay claim to the $850 found by members of the congregation. And the other finders, including the children's parents, are claiming the remainder, neither the children nor their parents are members of the church.

"The daughter of the previous owner of the land also has claimed it," said Jensen. "She says it was buried by her father."

The sheriff's office has advised all claimants who hold money found in the lot to do just that—hold it. The congregation's $850, earmarked for the building fund, is in a safe deposit box.

Cutback Plans Heard To Offset School Deficit

WILLOUGHBY, Ohio (AP)—The Willoughby-Eastlake Board of Education heard proposals Monday night on cutbacks in operation to offset an expected $371,291 deficit for the 1960-61 school year. The deficit would result from defeat of a proposed additional 4.8 mill operating levy at the primary election last Tuesday, according to Supt. J. B. Woodside.

The superintendent proposed dropping 46 teachers and cutting the administrative staff, discontinuing junior high interscholastic events and making pupils buy many supplies now furnished by the schools.

Life Membership Presented To 2 In Chester Post

Charles A. Morris and John Merriman, past commanders of Chester American Legion Post 121, were awarded life memberships at a meeting of the post Monday night.

Morris, state commander of the 40 & 8 Society, has also been service officer for 2 terms and has been adjutant for the past 2 years.

Merriman has also been vice commander in charge of social activities and has been child welfare officer of the post and of the 40 & 8.

Eighteen delegates and 18 alternates were chosen for the 1st District convention to be held at Wheeling May 22. Further nominations for officers was held and election is slated at the next meeting May 23.

Bids for repairs to the post home were accepted following a report by John Corcoran, secretary of the Board of Directors.

Americanism medals for the outstanding boy and girl of the eighth grade are to be presented to the pupils selected by the junior high school faculty, it was announced.

Tickets are now available to members for a baseball game between Pittsburgh and San Francisco May 20. A social meeting will be held Friday night at the post home.

Warren Jones, first vice commander, was in charge.

Tompion Will Miss Preakness On May 21

LOUISVILLE, (AP) — Tompion, the horse that was favored in the Kentucky Derby, will miss the Preakness May 21 because of a hoof injury.

$493 Expense Reported In Commissioner Race

Three more candidates at the May 3 primaries have filed sworn expense statements with the County Election Board.

Robert L. Faulkner of Leetonia R. D. 1 reported receipts of $75.20 and expenditures of $493.90 in his unsuccessful bid for the Democratic nomination for county commissioner.

Albert E. Kittridge of East Liverpool, who easily won the Democratic nomination for sheriff, listed expenses of $25.

Robert W. Sample Jr. of East Liverpool, who lost his bid for the Republican nomination for county recorder, said he spent $67.59.

3 Autos Damaged In 2 City Mishaps

Three autos were damaged in two minor traffic mishaps in East Liverpool Monday, police reported. Both were at intersections.

A collision at Lincoln Ave. and E. 9th St. at 12:05 p. m. damaged a 1959 station wagon operated by JoAnn Welch, 32, of R. D. 2 and a 1956 two-door sedan driven by Eric C. Flaherty, 33, of 804 Spring Grove Ave., police said.

The woman driver said she was making a left turn from Lincoln onto E. 9th, but cut the corner too short and hit Flaherty's auto, which was halted on E. 9th. The crash damaged the left front fender and grill of each auto, police said.

A crash at W. 5th St. and Cherry Alley at 10 a. m. involved a 1958 sedan driven by James E. Fox, 52, of 1040 Pan Ave., Chester, and a 1952 two-door sedan operated by George G. Wines, 65, of 2009 Chester Ave., Wellsville, officers said.

Fox was making a left turn from the alley onto the main thoroughfare and Wines was driving west on W. 5th, police said. The right front door of the Fox car was damaged, police said. Patrolman W. A. Devon investigated both crashes.

7 Noble County Schools Face Loss Of Charters

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Eight little high schools, all in one county. Along came the State Board of Education, and then there was one.

That's the sad tale of Noble County.

The board Monday served notice of intent to revoke the charters of all the county's high schools except one.

Without a charter, a high school cannot operate.

The board also gave notice of its intent to revoke charters of four high schools in Guernsey County.

All 11 revocations, for failing to meet minimum school standards, will become effective June 30, 1961.

The high schools can ask the board for a hearing before then. A board-appointed referee then would make recommendations on whether to revoke the charters.

The board Monday followed the recommendation of its referee in revoking the charters of four other high schools which had hearings. Another four did not ask for hearings and the board followed through with its previously announced intention to revoke their charters.

The seven high schools in Noble County which will be discontinued if the board has its way are Beaver, Belle Valley, Elk, Fulda, Sarahsville, Southern Noble and Summerfield locals.

The only Noble County high school not affected by the board's revocation notice is the one in Caldwell Exempted Village District. That district does not come under the jurisdiction of the county board of education. The other seven schools do.

The four schools in Guernsey County which would go out of operation are Cumberland - Spencer, Pleasant City, Quaker City and Valley locals.

The Noble County situation may force the county school board to reorganize the seven local districts into a few large districts with two or three high schools that meet minimum state standards.

Only one of the schools has more than 100 pupils (Valley Local with 118) and one (Fulda School) has only 11 pupils.

The eight high schools whose charters the board revoked Monday are (effective June 30): Chatfield and Tiro (both Crawford County), Glenmont (Holmes), Scipio (Meigs), Chuckery - Darby (Union), and (effective June 30, 1961) Christiansburg - Jackson, Salem Local and Rosewood (all Champaign County).

The board approved proposals, which will be submitted to voters in November, to consolidate:

Willshire Local District of Van Wert County and Rockford Local District of Mercer County.

Waldo and Prospect local districts in Marion County and Radnor Local District of Delaware County.

In other matters, the state board:

Authorized Malone College, Canton, to offer courses leading to degrees of bachelor of arts and bachelor of science, to be granted to the first class of graduates in June 1961.

Approved awarding of contracts to supply $39,925.90 worth of loose equipment to Perry Local District, Allen County.

Hospital Fund Group Told Of Staff Pledges

The sum of $52,000, pledged by the Board of Trustees, the osteopathic physicians and hospital employes, was reported at the kick-off meeting of the General Gifts Division of the Osteopathic Hospital's fund-raising campaign Monday night in the First Methodist Church.

The hospital is seeking $200,000 in the campaign ending May 28 for expansion purposes and some 135 team captains and workers attended the meeting last night.

Hanson W. Haun, campaign director, was introduced and instructed the group on the needs of the hospital and Alvin Babb, division co-chairman, presided.

Some 1,200 prospect cards were distributed and they will be contacted within the next three weeks in the public solicitation.

The group last night represented East Liverpool, Chester, Newell and Wellsville and separate teams are being organized for New Cumberland, Toronto, Chester, Newell, Midland, Lisbon, Hammondsville, Irondale and Salineville, Haun said.

Some 50 team captains and workers will attend another kick-off meeting tonight at 7:30 in the First Methodist Church at Wellsville.

Campaign report meetings will be held on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays at 7:30 p. m. for the duration of the campaign.

Man Kills Invalid Wife And Drowns Self In Cistern

Mrs. Roberts was shot once through the head with a .32 caliber revolver, Sheriff George said.

Marks on unspent shells in the revolver, where the firing pin had hit them, indicated that Roberts tried to shoot himself but the gun didn't go off, the sheriff said.

A note which Roberts left said his body could be found in the 10-foot-deep cistern at the rear of the house, but gave no reason for the incident, the sheriff stated.

The French writer Voltaire once wrote "Think for yourself, and let others enjoy the privilege to do so, too."

Mystery Dieter Files Report

Teen-age Minnie-The Munchers, with overweight worries, tune in: Here's our Mystery Dieter's first progress report. To update those of you who missed last week's story: We have a teen-age Mystery Dieter, Ruth, who weighed in at 154 pounds, height 5 feet 6, age 17. She is to serve as a model dieter for all teens who really desire to eat-to-beat-the-bulges and exercise to shape up and slim down. Here is her second letter:

By Ida Jean Kain

"I'm happy to tell you that since your call last Sunday, I have been seriously 'down to business.' I've been following the menus in the Teen-Age Slimming Challenge and the exercises nearly to a T.

This morning the scales pointed to 151 pounds! Could this 3-pound loss in five days be natural because of my bodily adjustment? I'm sure it is for I feel wonderful!

"I BELIEVE my greatest achievement has come in 'Operation Anti - Piece-Between-Meals.' Your suggestion to eat a hard-cooked egg after school works wonders. I no longer feel guilty when I do eat. And, too, now it is not hard to wait until dinner at 6 o'clock. I used to piece from 4:30 until 6!

"Whenever I am tempted to piece on some delicious tidbit, I quick as a wink flash on the screen of my mind the picture of the perfect figure. I'll have in just three months. After all, I tell myself, it's much more important to me to be able to slip into that pair of SLIM Bermudas than it is to enjoy a taste which will be gone within a minute.

"Your exercises have been a great help too. Even in this short time, I can feel my muscles pulling into shape. I find that the best time to exercise is early in the morning — about one half hour before my usual 'rise and shine' time. By doing this, I am awake and refreshed for the day and stimulated so as to be ready for a nutritious breakfast.

"I think the most important thing to tell all eat-to-get-slimmers is that—YOU CAN DO IT, but the time to start is NOW."

All right, teens. Reverse the spelling of NOW. If you've got what it takes to accept the challenge, by summer you will have WON.

THE DIET RULES again: Eat a dynamic action breakfast which includes fruit juice, an egg, slice of toast lightly buttered, and a glass of skim milk. Or substitute cereal with milk for the egg. No sweets.

Eat a modest but good lunch but have fruit for dessert. If lunch is carried, have a lean meat sandwich, fruit, and milk. After school, have a hard-cooked egg, or a big apple and glass of skim milk.

Send a long, self - addressed, stamped envelope for "Teen Age Slimming Challenge. Address your request to Ida Jean Kain, in care of this newspaper. Post card requests cannot be answered.

Inquiry Launched On FPC Involving Public's Gas Bills

WASHINGTON (AP) — House investigators set out today to determine whether backdoor talks involving the Federal Power Commission have had any effect on the public's gas bills.

FPC members have denied that they were influenced by favors in fixing rates charged by gas pipeline companies, but the hearings could provide political fireworks.

FPC Chairman Jerome K. Kuykendall was expected to be the lead-off witness before the House Legislative Oversight subcommittee.

A subcommittee source said Kuykendall would be followed by FPC Vice Chairman Arthur S. Kline and Commissioners William R. Connole and Frederick Stueck.

Kuykendall, Kline and Connole have acknowledged talking privately with a gas pipeline attorney just before granting the attorney's client permission to import natural gas from Canada last October. At the time, the commission left open for later determination the rate of return to be allowed the firm.

Heads Vote Probe

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP) — George C. Braden of Warren will be in charge of the state's investigation of Mahoning County's voting-machine breakdown on primary election day. The probe begins here today, Secretary of State Ted W. Brown announced. It will try to determine how many persons were prevented from voting and what caused the machine breakdowns.

Free Day Set May 27 At Pool In Palestine

EAST PALESTINE — The annual "Free Day" at the City Park swimming pool, marking the opening of the park for the summer, will be held May 27, but the regular summer schedule will not begin until June 4 because of school.

The pool will be open from 4 to 8 p. m. May 27, and from 1 to 9 p. m. May 28-30. From May 31 through June 3 the park hours will be 5 to 9 p. m., and the regular summer hours of 1 to 9 p. m. will begin June 4.

Admission prices will be the same as last year — 10 cents for youngsters up to 12, 25 cents for those from 12 to 18 and 50 cents for adults.

Without a charter, a high school cannot operate.

The board also gave notice of its intent to revoke charters of four high schools in Guernsey County.

All 11 revocations, for failing to meet minimum school standards, will become effective June 30, 1961.

The high schools can ask the board for a hearing before then. A board-appointed referee then would make recommendations on whether to revoke the charters.

The board Monday followed the recommendation of its referee in revoking the charters of four other high schools which had hearings. Another four did not ask for hearings and the board followed through with its previously announced intention to revoke their charters.

The seven high schools in Noble County which will be discontinued if the board has its way are Beaver, Belle Valley, Elk, Fulda, Sarahsville, Southern Noble and Summerfield locals.

The only Noble County high school not affected by the board's revocation notice is the one in Caldwell Exempted Village District. That district does not come under the jurisdiction of the county board of education. The other seven schools do.

The four schools in Guernsey County which would go out of operation are Cumberland - Spencer, Pleasant City, Quaker City and Valley locals.

The Noble County situation may force the county school board to reorganize the seven local districts into a few large districts with two or three high schools that meet minimum state standards.

Only one of the schools has more than 100 pupils (Valley Local with 118) and one (Fulda School) has only 11 pupils.

The eight high schools whose charters the board revoked Monday are (effective June 30): Chatfield and Tiro (both Crawford County), Glenmont (Holmes), Scipio (Meigs), Chuckery - Darby (Union), and (effective June 30, 1961) Christiansburg - Jackson, Salem Local and Rosewood (all Champaign County).

The board approved proposals, which will be submitted to voters in November, to consolidate:

Waldo and Prospect local districts in Marion County and Radnor Local District of Delaware County.

In other matters, the state board:

Authorized Malone College, Canton, to offer courses leading to degrees of bachelor of arts and bachelor of science, to be granted to the first class of graduates in June 1961.

Increased state aid to school districts for purchase of school buses, partially restoring a cut made last year.

Approved awarding of contracts to supply $39,925.90 worth of loose equipment to Perry Local District, Allen County.

Hospital Fund Group Told Of Staff Pledges

The sum of $52,000, pledged by the Board of Trustees, the osteopathic physicians and hospital employes, was reported at the kick-off meeting of the General Gifts Division of the Osteopathic Hospital's fund-raising campaign Monday night in the First Methodist Church.

The hospital is seeking $200,000 in the campaign ending May 28 for expansion purposes and some 135 team captains and workers attended the meeting last night.

Hanson W. Haun, campaign director, was introduced and instructed the group on the needs of the hospital and Alvin Babb, division co-chairman, presided.

Some 1,200 prospect cards were distributed and they will be contacted within the next three weeks in the public solicitation.

The group last night represented East Liverpool, Chester, Newell and Wellsville and separate teams are being organized for New Cumberland, Toronto, Chester, Newell, Midland, Lisbon, Hammondsville, Irondale and Salineville, Haun said.

Some 50 team captains and workers will attend another kick-off meeting tonight at 7:30 in the First Methodist Church at Wellsville.

Campaign report meetings will be held on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays at 7:30 p. m. for the duration of the campaign.

Man Kills Invalid Wife And Drowns Self In Cistern

Mrs. Roberts was shot once through the head with a .32 caliber revolver, Sheriff George said.

Marks on unspent shells in the revolver, where the firing pin had hit them, indicated that Roberts tried to shoot himself but the gun didn't go off, the sheriff said.

A note which Roberts left said his body could be found in the 10-foot-deep cistern at the rear of the house, but gave no reason for the incident, the sheriff stated.

The French writer Voltaire once wrote "Think for yourself, and let others enjoy the privilege to do so, too."

Mystery Dieter Files Report

Teen-age Minnie-The Munchers, with overweight worries, tune in: Here's our Mystery Dieter's first progress report. To update those of you who missed last week's story: We have a teen-age Mystery Dieter, Ruth, who weighed in at 154 pounds, height 5 feet 6, age 17. She is to serve as a model dieter for all teens who really desire to eat-to-beat-the-bulges and exercise to shape up and slim down. Here is her second letter:

By Ida Jean Kain

"I'm happy to tell you that since your call last Sunday, I have been seriously 'down to business.' I've been following the menus in the Teen-Age Slimming Challenge and the exercises nearly to a T.

This morning the scales pointed to 151 pounds! Could this 3-pound loss in five days be natural because of my bodily adjustment? I'm sure it is for I feel wonderful!

"I BELIEVE my greatest achievement has come in 'Operation Anti - Piece-Between-Meals.' Your suggestion to eat a hard-cooked egg after school works wonders. I no longer feel guilty when I do eat. And, too, now it is not hard to wait until dinner at 6 o'clock. I used to piece from 4:30 until 6!

"Whenever I am tempted to piece on some delicious tidbit, I quick as a wink flash on the screen of my mind the picture of the perfect figure. I'll have in just three months. After all, I tell myself, it's much more important to me to be able to slip into that pair of SLIM Bermudas than it is to enjoy a taste which will be gone within a minute.

"Your exercises have been a great help too. Even in this short time, I can feel my muscles pulling into shape. I find that the best time to exercise is early in the morning — about one half hour before my usual 'rise and shine' time. By doing this, I am awake and refreshed for the day and stimulated so as to be ready for a nutritious breakfast.

"I think the most important thing to tell all eat-to-get-slimmers is that—YOU CAN DO IT, but the time to start is NOW."

All right, teens. Reverse the spelling of NOW. If you've got what it takes to accept the challenge, by summer you will have WON.

THE DIET RULES again: Eat a dynamic action breakfast which includes fruit juice, an egg, slice of toast lightly buttered, and a glass of skim milk. Or substitute cereal with milk for the egg. No sweets.

Eat a modest but good lunch but have fruit for dessert. If lunch is carried, have a lean meat sandwich, fruit, and milk. After school, have a hard-cooked egg, or a big apple and glass of skim milk.

Eat a good dinner, but again have fruit for dessert. No munching after dinner.

Send a long, self - addressed, stamped envelope for "Teen Age Slimming Challenge. Address your request to Ida Jean Kain, in care of this newspaper. Post card requests cannot be answered.

Inquiry Launched On FPC Involving Public's Gas Bills

WASHINGTON (AP) — House investigators set out today to determine whether backdoor talks involving the Federal Power Commission have had any effect on the public's gas bills.

FPC members have denied that they were influenced by favors in fixing rates charged by gas pipeline companies, but the hearings could provide political fireworks.

FPC Chairman Jerome K. Kuykendall was expected to be the lead-off witness before the House Legislative Oversight subcommittee.

A subcommittee source said Kuykendall would be followed by FPC Vice Chairman Arthur S. Kline and Commissioners William R. Connole and Frederick Stueck.

Kuykendall, Kline and Connole have acknowledged talking privately with a gas pipeline attorney just before granting the attorney's client permission to import natural gas from Canada last October. At the time, the commission left open for later determination the rate of return to be allowed the firm.
